Rusk Stand On Hearings Angers Solons

Senate Panel Wants Testimony To Be Public

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson may be asked to mediate a continuing dispute between Secretary of State Dean Rusk and the Senate Foreign Relations Committee regarding information on the Vietnam war.

Some members of the panel are growing increasingly impatient over Rusk's rejection of invitations to appear before it and publicly answer questions on the administration's Vietnam policies.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., says he wants to take the controversy directly to the President for a decision.

His plan calls for having the committee authorize Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., to register a formal protest with Johnson over Rusk's refusal to appear at a public session.

Such a motion, prepared for introduction at a committee meeting today, could not be voted on until another session expected Thursday.

A Rusk agreement to appear publicly could head off a protest to the White House, Gore said.

He commented in an interview after a Senate speech in which he complained of Rusk's continuing refusal to agree to discuss Vietnam before the committee with the public and press on hand.

The secretary has said repeatedly a more candid and fruitful exchange of views can be had in private session.

But Gore posed a series of questions he said Rusk should be asked to answer in public. They covered goals and national security aspects of the Vietnam military effort.

"How can either the President or the Senate discharge their respective responsibilities to the American people without inclusive public examination of these policies and questions?" Gore asked the Senate.

Lay Teachers To Ask Raises

CLEVELAND (AP) — Pay raises amounting to nearly $4 million next year will be sought by lay teachers in the Roman Catholic elementary and high schools of the Cleveland Diocese.

Patrick J. Bruening, president of the Cleveland High School and Academy Lay Teachers' Association, said Tuesday a proposal to increase the starting salaries for the 2,130 teachers to match those of teachers in the public school systems will be presented to the Diocesan Board of Education in January.

He said the association is seeking a starting salary of $6,300 a year for a teacher with a bachelor's degree and $6,700 for one with a master's degree.

Elementary school teachers in the parochial schools are paid between $3,200 and $4,800 annually, which high school teachers receive about 85 per cent of what their counterparts in the public schools are paid, Bruening added.

1968 Property Tax Rates Set

Higher tax rates will be levied against most residents of Pickaway County for 1968. Rates announced Wednesday by County Treasurer Robert Wood showed that Circleville tax rates will be raised $1.80 from $32.60 to $34.40 for every $1,000 of assessed property valuation.

Taxes will be raised for residents of four villages, Ashville, South Bloomfield, Commercial Point, Orient, and seven townships, Circleville, Harrison, Madison, Monroe, Scioto, Walnut and Wayne.

Rates will drop for property owners in Tilton and the townships of Deer Creek, Pickaway, Salt Creek and Washington.

NO changes will occur in taxes at the villages of Harrisburg, Williamsport, Darbyville and New Holland, and the townships of Darby, Muhlenberg, Jackson and Perry.

Largest tax increase is $7 in Orient where the tax rate will climb to $34.10 from the previous $27.10. This increase is due to the passage of the $3 village street levy and the $4 Teays Valley school levy.

Increases in county taxes are due primarily to passage of Teays Valley and Circleville school levies. Decreases were due to retirement of the $1.10 Logan Elm School levy. No changes were made in the Westfall taxes.

County Treasurer Robert Wood said that every issue on the ballot in Pickaway County that would increase the property taxes was passed at the Nov. 7, election.

Tax bills reflecting the new rates will probably be mailed in early January.

A complete list of the new rates per $1,000 of property valuation follows. Old rates are shown in parentheses.

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — The pacifist crew of the yacht Phoenix were rebuffed for the third time today in their attempt to turn over $5,250 in medical supplies to the Vietnamese.

The crew were reported intending to sail to Hong Kong and a crew leader, Prof. Harrison Buttworth of Ohio University, was said to have been granted government permission to fly the British colony.

The medical supplies originally intended for North Vietnam but Communist authorities denied the Phoenix entrance to Haiphong Harbor on the ground it was unsafe because of U.S. air raids.

The Phoenix sailed to Dan Nang and the crew offered supplies to Vietnamese refugees. When that offer was rejected, they proposed to give the supplies to the United Buddhist Church.

The South Vietnamese government refused the latest offer today and the six men and two women in the crew were reportedly liable to arrest because their visas have been revoked.

The two-masted craft has been tied up at a quay at the Dan Nang naval base on a peninsula about one mile across the water from the city. The crew has been confined to the base.

called on McNamara in a Senate speech to stay on the job. He described the secretary as a voice of restraint in the highest councils of the administration and said if McNamara left there would be "a very real hardening of positions."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who has differed sharply with President Johnson over war policy, also said McNamara had imposed restraint on U.S. military leaders. He expressed hope a new defense chief wouldn't support an escalation of the U.S. military effort.

Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., greeted word of the defense chief's retirement with predictions a stepped up U.S. military drive in Vietnam is in the works.

And Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., questioned publicly whether McNamara is stepping out voluntarily. He cited some reports the secretary did not want to quit.

Kennedy, member of a family with close personal ties to McNamara, said it was important that Congress and the public "know really what is the basis" for the move.

Viet Cong Force Attacks Outpost, Is Beaten Back

Safety Car Is Displayed In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Motor Vehicle Commissioner Vincent L. Tofany has displayed a state-financed scale model of a "safety sedan" that he says would withstand a front or rear end impact at 50 miles an hour.

The model, developed at a cost of $385,000, was shown at a news conference Tuesday.

Among the score of safety features are:

—A periscope that juts up from the roof, with an eye mirror to the left of the steering wheel, giving the driver a panoramic view to the rear and sides without having to take his eyes off the road for long. The device has a wide-angle viewing lens of 160 degrees.

—A hydraulic energy-absorbing bumper that extends 12 inches and operates automatically as soon as the car goes over 37 miles an hour.

—A silhouette with no jagged edges that would impale a pedestrian.

—A four-wheel drive with an antilock braking system.

—Structural design to withstand a sideswipe crash at 40 miles an hour and a roll-over without collision at 70 miles an hour.

Tofany said the projected cost for manufacturing the four-passenger car would not be any higher than comparable conventional vehicles in production.

He said the car could go into mass production by the early 1970s if the federal or state government provided $5 million more for further testing. Finding a manufacturer willing to build the car is another factor, Tofany said. The design calls for a 4,000-pound car with a V-8 engine.

The Fairchild Hiller Corp., an aerospace firm, developed the design under a $385,000 contract with the state.

Living Costs Show Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs rose three-tenths of one per cent in October mainly because of higher prices for new automobiles, clothing and services, the government reported today.

Food prices dropped two-tenths of one per cent, but this was less than seasonal, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

In its annual evaluation of automobile prices, the bureau said new car prices went up with introduction of the 1968 model, with retail prices averaging 2.7 per cent higher than a year ago.

Manufacturers' prices averaged just 2 per cent above a year ago, after allowance for net quality improvements in 1968 models.

The balance of the retail price increase was attributed to smaller dealer discounts and trade-in allowances and higher sales taxes in certain states as well as higher freight charges.

The actual increase in manufacturers' prices for cars averaged $87.54. The bureau said that $29.65 of this increase should be attributed to safety improvements and $11.20 to changes designed to reduce the output of air pollutants.

The White House said through a spokesman that McNamara's resignation would not change U.S. war policy. And in Saigon, Westmoreland told newsmen he didn't "foresee any change in policy" on the war if the defense secretary does quit.

Some congressional sources predicted McNamara's exit likely will strengthen Westmoreland's policy influence.

Capitol Hill leaders who frequent the White House suggested privately that withdrawal of McNamara from the Cabinet will add weight to the already considerable influence West-

Rockefellers Are Honored By Institute

NEW YORK (AP) — It was a typical American family reunion—except that two of the brothers were governors, one president of a bank and all of them named Rockefeller.

John, Nelson, Laurence, Winthrop and David Rockefeller gathered Tuesday night for the annual awards dinner of the National Institute of Social Sciences.

Each of the sons of the late John D. Rockefeller Jr. and the Rockefeller family as a whole was presented a gold medal for "distinguished service to humanity."

"I'm glad you require that the recipients of your awards be present in person," said John D. Rockefeller 3d, the eldest at 61. "It gives me a good opportunity to see my brothers."

He noted that family planning and population problems had been his chief concern for many years. "But tonight's occasion makes me wonder," he said, "if my parents had been exposed to today's ideas of family planning, my brothers Win and David might not have made it."

He also described himself as "the only one of the five who is unemployed."

Nelson, 59, is governor of New York; Laurence, 57, is a conservationist and also president of the Rockefeller Brothers Fund; Winthrop, 55, is governor of Arkansas; and David, 52, is president of the Chase Manhattan Bank.

More Protests Set in Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — A leader of antidraft demonstrations at the new Federal Building where five pickets claimed injury by police said more demonstrations are planned for next week.

Tim Hall a spokesman for about 100 demonstrators in a three-hour protest Tuesday, said next week's activities will be part of a national "stop the draft week."

Tax Boost Hopes All But Disappear

WASHINGTON (AP) — The odds against even one house of Congress passing a tax increase bill this year have gone almost out of sight, but President Johnson's administration is trying to head off a move to save the measure.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, where all tax legislation must start, said Tuesday it would be impossible for a tax bill to get even through the House—let alone the Senate—by Jan. 1.

Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler and Budget Director Charles L. Schultze, nevertheless, had a package proposal for the committee today: A $4 billion spending cut and a 10 per cent surcharge on income taxes estimated to yield, with lesser tax changes, about $5 billion by June 30.

Joining the administration fiscal chiefs is the independent—but this time firmly allied—Federal Reserve Board in the person of Chairman William McChesney Martin.

Mills has said repeatedly he considers the hearings to be an occasion for examining plans to reduce spending, not to consider tax legislation. But the Arkansas Democrat told newsmen he wouldn't cut off the administration officials if they wanted to talk taxes.

Mills has a double grievance against the administration spending cut plans. He says the amount is short by $1 billion or so of meeting his standard of dollar-for-dollar matching of tax increases and that it doesn't consider the $11 billion the taxes would yield in the next full year. Moreover, he says he suspects much of the claimed saving is really only postponement of spending.

General Assembly President Corneliu Manescu of Romania said that his government was telling U.S. roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman that a stepup in the U.S. bombing will not end the Vietnam war.

The Soviet Union told the General Assembly the United States is increasing its bombing of the North and claimed that Hanoi poses no threat to the Americans.

A U.S. delegation spokesman has indicated that Washington will try to bring Vietnam before the Security Council if the Senate passes a resolution recommended by its Foreign Relations Committee. The proposal calls on U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg to bring a resolution aimed at settling the war before the council.

The United States presented a resolution seeking a new Geneva conference on Vietnam before the council in February 1966. Because of Soviet and French opposition, Washington never pressed it to a vote.

Little Girl Dies

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — One of three children burned in a fire in Crawford County died in Children's Hospital early Wednesday.

Debra Bilger, six months, of New Winchester, died of burns received in a Tuesday afternoon fire at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bilger. Two other children, Randy, 6, and Roy, 2, remain in poor condition at the hospital.

Authorities said five other children of the couple escaped injury when fire broke out in the residence.

Jets Smash Red Troops; Find 65 Dead

SAIGON (AP) — Waves of Viet Cong troops assaulted a government district headquarters near the Cambodian border for 5½ hours today and overran some of the 200 defenders before jet fighters strafed and bombed the Reds into retreat.

A South Vietnamese spokesman said 65 enemy bodies were found inside and nearby the perimeter of the district headquarters compound at Bo Duc, 80 miles north of Saigon.

He said 15 government soldiers were killed and 19 wounded.

Simultaneous with the ground attack only three miles from the Cambodian border, the Viet Cong shelled a government outpost four miles to the south and a U.S. Special Forces camp 10 miles to the south. Government casualties were reported light in those attacks, and there was no report of U.S. casualties.

The attack at Bo Duc continued a pattern of scattered Communist shelling and hit-and-run ground attacks that has prevailed since the end of the Dak To battle last week.

Elsewhere only small scattered skirmishes were logged in the ground war.

Over North Vietnam, U.S. Navy bombers on Tuesday came closer to the center of Haiphong than they have in some days.

Attacking pilots reported leaving secondary explosions and broken tracks in the railroad yards 1.7 miles northwest of the port city's center. They said they did heavy damage to the northern span of a rail and highway bridge a mile west of downtown Haiphong.

Both the yards and the bridge had been attacked before.

A South Vietnamese spokesman said the Bo Duc headquarters was attacked by troops of the 272nd Viet Cong Regiment, the same regiment that made a week-long series of attacks early in November on the Loc Ninh (Continued on Page 2)

British Leave Aden Quickly

LONDON (AP) — There'll be no British royal presence and no warm handshakes when the Union Jack comes down for the last time in Aden at midnight tonight.

The Republic of South Yemen was unofficially born, in fact, on Sunday morning when the Arabs awoke to find the last of 12,000 British troops had pulled out before dawn.

Britain has not just freed the colony it held for 128 years at the southern entrance to the Red Sea. It has cleared out.

High Commissioner Humphrey Trevelyan left Tuesday. Unlike other transfers of British colonial power in the last 20 years, no member of the royal family will hand over the instruments of power.

The National Liberation Front is taking over, and in Geneva a NLF delegation worked feverishly with British negotiators under Lord Shackleton, trying to draw up a formal agreement for an orderly transfer of power.

A plane was standing by to whisk the NLF leader, Qahtan Al Shaabi, and his 14 associates back to South Arabia for celebrations marking the birth of their nation.

Sources in Geneva indicated the main stumbling block was the amount of financial aid Britain would give the new Arab republic. Britain wants to give far less than the 60 million pounds—now worth $144 million—promised when Egyptian troops in neighboring Yemen were a threat.

Lay Teachers To Ask Raises

CLEVELAND (AP) — Pay raises amounting to nearly $4 million next year will be sought by lay teachers in the Roman Catholic elementary and high schools of the Cleveland Diocese.

Patrick J. Bruening, president of the Cleveland High School and Academy Lay Teachers' Association, said Tuesday a proposal to increase the starting salaries for the 2,150 teachers to match those of teachers in the public school systems will be presented to the Diocesan Board of Education in January.

1968 Property Tax Rates Set

Higher tax rates will be levied against most residents of Pickaway County for 1968. Rates announced Wednesday by County Treasurer Robert Wood showed that Circleville tax rates will be raised $1.80 from $32.60 to $34.40 for every $1,000 of assessed property valuation.

Michigan Demo Chief Resigns

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan Democrats are searching for a successor to State Chairman Zoltan Ferency, who is resigning in a controversy over national party policies and President Johnson.

Ferency, who has suggested that Johnson might not be the best choice to head the ticket in 1968, said Tuesday he would step down "for reasons directly related to fundamentals of political philosophy, principle and procedures."

His resignation submitted to the State Central Committee, which must pick a successor, will be effective Jan. 15 or upon selection of a new chairman, whichever comes first.

The 45-year-old attorney said it had been made clear to him "by almost unanimous, if not completely unanimous action" by the state party leaders that they are committed to renomination and re-election of Johnson in 1968.

Ferency, often a controversial figure in his nearly five years as chairman, has called for free debate of national issues and an "open" national convention—accusing the party's national powers of attempting to "wire" the convention.

"If it's wired for sound and that sound is 'happy birthday LBJ,' count me out," he has said. Ferency has urged U.S. Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., to seek the 1968 nomination as an alternate to Johnson.

Ferency said "pressure" has been exerted by Democratic National Chairman John Bailey I to form a letter sent to all county chairmen "saying Johnson is the candidate and it looks like we are going to have trouble with those who would rather be heard than heard."

Cabinet Shuffle Shakes Britain

LONDON (AP) — Chancellor of the Exchequer James Callaghan resigned today in the wake of Britain's devaluation of the pound. He switched places with Home Secretary Roy Jenkins, who succeeds him at the treasury.

The switch brings to the British treasury one of the Cabinet's leading exponents of Britain joining the Common Market. Jenkins is believed to have favored devaluation of the pound for months before it took place Nov. 18.

Callaghan's three-year tenure at the treasury was dominated by his unsuccessful battle to avoid devaluation.

Works and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., questioned publicly whether McNamara is stepping out voluntarily. He cited some reports the secretary did not want to quit.

Kennedy, personal ties to McNamara, said it was important that Congress and the public "know really what is the basis" for the move.

Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., greeted word of the defense chief's retirement with predictions a stepped up U.S. military drive in Vietnam is in the works.

Some congressional sources called on McNamara to a Senate speech to stay on the job. He described the secretary as a voice of restraint in the highest councils of the administration and said if McNamara left there would be "a very real hardening of positions."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who has differed sharply with President Johnson over war policy, also said McNamara had imposed restraint on U.S. military leaders. He expressed hope a new defense chief wouldn't support an escalation of the U.S. military effort.

The White House, Pentagon and Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. commander in Vietnam, meanwhile denied reports a McNamara resignation would herald a change in Vietnam policy or that he was being dumped.

Asked about reports McNamara didn't even know he was being nominated for the World Bank post, a Pentagon spokesman replied:

"I am not going to discuss the secretary's conversations with the President. But any implication that the secretary was not aware of the nomination is untrue."

The White House said through a spokesman that McNamara's resignation would not change U.S. war policy. And in Saigon, Westmoreland told newsmen he didn't "foresee any change in policy" on the war if the defense secretary does quit.

Some congressional sources predicted McNamara's exit likely will strengthen Westmoreland's policy influence.

Capitol Hill leaders who frequent the White House suggested privately that withdrawal of McNamara from the Cabinet will add weight to the already considerable influence Westmoreland has built up with President Johnson.

They described Johnson as "completely sold" on Westmoreland and think he may well see the war out in his job.

McNamara disputed the wisdom of Westmoreland's recommendations for troop increases last summer and got presidential backing for holding down the number.

Although McNamara later denied he intended it as such, the secretary's comments on the large ratio of supply to combat troops was interpreted as a slam at the general's organizational setup.

Safety Car' Is Displayed In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Motor Vehicle Commissioner Vincent L. Tofany has displayed a state-financed scale model of a "safety sedan" that he says would withstand a front or rear end impact at 50 miles an hour.

The model, developed at a cost of $385,000, was shown at a news conference Tuesday.

Among the score of safety features are:

—A periscope that juts up from the roof, with an eye mirror to the left of the steering wheel, giving the driver a panoramic view to the rear and sides without having to take his eyes off the road for long. The device has a wide-angle viewing lens of 160 degrees.

—A hydraulic energy-absorbing bumper that extends 12 inches and operates automatically as soon as the car goes over 37 miles an hour.

—A silhouette with no jagged edges that would impale a pedestrian.

—A four-wheel drive with an antilock braking system.

—Structural design to withstand a sideswipe crash at 40 miles an hour and a roll-over without collision at 70 miles an hour.

Tofany said the projected cost for manufacturing the four-passenger car "is not as high as the $4 million conventional car is in production."

He said the car could go into mass production by the early 1970s if the federal or state government provided $5 million more for further testing. Finding a manufacturer willing to build the car is another factor, Tofany said. The design calls for a 4,000-pound car with a V-8 engine.

The Fairchild Hiller Corp., an aerospace firm, developed the design under a $385,000 contract with the state.

NEW YORK (AP) — It was a typical American family reunion—except that two of the brothers were governors, one president of a bank and all of them named Rockefeller.

John, Nelson, Laurence, Winthrop and David Rockefeller gathered Tuesday night for the annual awards dinner of the National Institute of Social Sciences.

Each of the sons of the late John D. Rockefeller Jr. and the Rockefeller family as a whole was presented a gold medal for "distinguished service to humanity."

"I'm glad you require that the recipients of your awards be present in person," said John D. Rockefeller 3d, the eldest at 61. "It gives me a good opportunity to see my brothers."

He noted that family planning and population problems had been his chief concern for many years. "But tonight's occasion makes me wonder," he said. "If my parents had been exposed to today's ideas of family planning, my brothers Win and David might not have made it."

He also described himself as "the only one of the five who is unemployed."

Nelson, 59, is governor of New York; Laurence, 57, is a conservationist and also president of the Rockefeller Brothers Fund; Winthrop, 55, is governor of Arkansas; and David, 52, is president of the Chase Manhattan Bank.

More Protests Set in Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—A leader of anti-draft demonstrations at the new Federal Building where five pickets claimed injury by police said more demonstrations are planned for next week.

Tim Hall, a spokesman for about 100 demonstrators in a three-hour protest Tuesday, said next week's activities will be part of a national "stop the draft week."

The actual increase in manufacturers' prices for cars averaged $87.54. The bureau said that $29.65 of this increase should be attributed to safety improvements and $11.20 to changes designed to reduce the output of air pollutants.

The balance of the retail price increase was attributed to smaller dealer discounts and trade-in allowances and higher sales taxes in certain states as well as higher freight charges.

Money Proves Counterfeit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Three boys who came to police excited over finding $820 in $20 bills Tuesday were brought down to earth quickly. The bills were counterfeit.

Police were counting the seeming treasure in front of the boys and the parents of one when they discovered the bills were phony.

The boys, Tyrone Johnson, 12, Albert O'Connor, 11, and Bobby Reasoner 11 said they found the bills in a parking lot behind a drug store. They were in a wad with a rubber band around it.

Eisenhower Sees 'Hot Pursuit' as Idea for Vietnam

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower says the United States can win the Vietnam war and urges greater leeway for U.S. troops in pursuing enemy forces across South Vietnam's national frontiers.

He advocated limited forays into the demilitarized zone to spike enemy artillery and "hot pursuit" of enemy ground forces, even when they seek sanctuary in neutral Cambodia or Laos.

The former Republican president and general spoke Tuesday night in a taped interview on the CBS television network along with Omar N. Bradley, the nation's only other living five-star general.

Eisenhower said Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, apparently "has about as many troops as he would like, or as he's asked for."

But he added, "Personally, I would like to see him have another 100,000 to just clean this thing up more quickly."

At another point he said "the first principle of war is to win quickly... I think that if you're going to appeal to force, and disregard all international means of getting this thing settled, then get all the force you can as quickly as you can."

Asked if he thought it was possible to win the war militarily, Eisenhower noted there were always defeatists: "People say, 'Oh, you can't win. What are we going to do? Better stop right here! Well, that's silly. And I say, of course they can do it.'"

In the past Eisenhower has repeatedly declined to recommend any specific strategy in the war. He said again in the interview, "I don't believe anyone is in a position, that isn't living this problem all the time, to criticize in detail the conduct of this war."

At another point, however, Eisenhower and Bradley were asked if there was something else the nation could be doing now in Vietnam. Their replies, according to a transcript, included the following:

EISENHOWER: This respecting of boundary lines on a map. I think you can overdo it. Now we don't want to invade North Vietnam and destroy it, but they're right down in the DMZ and right north of it, and now it seems too, if we wanted, to put on an operation that would

Transit Strike In 5th Week

CINCINNATI (AP) — Eugene Ruehlmann, mayor-elect, issued another plea Tuesday to get opposing sides in the city transit strike back to the bargaining table, but it went unheeded.

No meetings were set up as the walkout by members of the Amalgamated Transit Workers Union stretched into its fifth week.

Cincinnati Transit Co. officials said they have been waiting since Friday for a call from Harold Smith, union international representative, to schedule a date for resumption of talks.

But Smith, also chief negotiator for the union, has not called and is reported to be in Rochester, N.Y., trying to help avert a transit strike there.

The union representing about 900 drivers and maintenance men struck Nov. 1 after the union contracts expired.

Date Set For Trial

The first degree murder trial of Carl Halleck, accused of the slaying of Ironton Police Chief Gene Markle, will begin in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court Jan. 8.

Judge William Ammer announced today that a jury list will be drawn Dec. 12 for the trial.

Judge Ammer said today he had conferred with both Dennis J. Callahan, Lawrence County, prosecuting attorney, and Elliott Meyers, attorney for the defense. They anticipate the trial will take about three weeks.

A trial in Lawrence County ended in a hung jury. The defense asked for a change of venue and the trial was transferred to Pickaway County.

Pension Bill Keeps Boost For LBJ Pal

WASHINGTON (AP) — A section that would entitle a federal judge and longtime friend of President Johnson to a 46 per cent higher pension remains in a pending Senate pay bill after the narrow defeat of a move to eliminate it.

A critic called it "quite a Christmas present for anybody."

The controversial provision is part of a bill to raise the salaries of 2 million civilian employees of the federal government by $2.7 billion in three stages and raise postal rates by $916 million.

The legislation is up for final action today.

Most of the postal increase would take effect Jan. 7. First-class mail stamps now selling for 5 cents would go to 6 cents and air mail from 8 to 10 cents.

A sudden storm erupted Monday over a section of the bill that would enable Judge Paul J. Kilday of the U.S. Military Court of Appeals to retire on an annual pension of $26,400 a year, instead of the $18,000 he would get under present law.

Kilday, 68, was a Texas congressman for 24 years. Present regulations key his pension to his congressional salary rather than the higher pay he has made on the court since 1961.

His term runs to 1976 but he could retire before then.

A motion by Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., to eliminate the pension change was defeated, 39 to 36.

Stocks Rise For 6th Day

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advance showed no sign of slackening as it continued early this afternoon for the sixth straight session.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.30 at 888.18.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .5 at 317.7 with industrials up .5, rails up .8 and utilities off .1.

Occidental Petroleum, which lost 5 1/2 Tuesday in a continued slide, paced the list on volume as it rebounded more than 4 points.

Prices advanced in active trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Muny Court Hears 7 Cases

Charges of traffic violations were heard in Municipal Court Tuesday against three local and seven out-of-county motorists.

Glen Edward Schamehorn Jr., 18, Ashville, pleaded guilty to charges of failing to maintain assured clear distance ahead. He was fined $35 and costs by Judge Sterling Lamb with $10 of the fine suspended.

Keith Clark, Amanda, forfeited $50 bond set on charges arising from driving his car onto the curb and striking a tree.

Robert Walton, 31, Williamsport, forfeited $29 in bond set on charges of speeding 88 miles in a 50 mile zone.

The court collected $169 in fines and bond forfeitures from out-of-county motorists.

House Becomes Fortress For 9 Against The World

DOMINGUEZ, Calif. (AP) — A house that has become one family's fortress against the world may be breached by sheriff's deputies armed with warrants for the arrest of two of the nine occupants who say they won't come out "until God instructs us to."

Robert Holt, 36, has turned the rented home in this Los Angeles suburb into a retreat for himself and eight relatives. They closed the doors and drew the curtains in April.

They have lived there since without lights or heat. Weeds in the once well-tended lawn are now 6 to 8 feet high.

"You never hear a sound from that house," said Herman Hayes, a neighbor. "It's very sad and a mystery none of us can understand."

In the house are Holt, an engineer; his wife Loyce, 33; their daughters Robbie, 6, and Sally, 3. Holt's mother Ella Holt; Holt's brother, Ralph; his sister, Ella Mae Johnson; and her two sons, Cointon, 17, and Andrew, 19.

When they first began their retreat they spoke to visitors through a broken window pane.

See Gilligan Vs. Lausche

CINCINNATI (AP) — Former congressman John Gilligan revealed Tuesday that he might oppose Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, in the May primary next year.

He added he will run only if the Ohio state Democratic leadership wants him and that he is "not out seeking to be a candidate."

Gilligan, councilman-elect made the announcement here only one day after a Cleveland-area Democratic group stated it would support him for the Senate position.

The former representative said he is flattered by the organization's interest in him, but said he didn't even know it existed.

James Friedman, a suburban Cleveland attorney, heads the group known as "Citizens for Gilligan" and said the Democratic Party "will not advance in Ohio" as long as Lausche is in the senate.

Draft Laws Explained

EDITOR'S NOTE: In an effort to create a greater public understanding of the laws and regulations governing the induction of personnel into the Armed Forces, the Selective Service System has prepared a series of pertinent questions and corresponding responses concerning provisions of the draft law. Here is another in the series.

Q. Is it possible for me to obtain the address of a Selective Service registrant from his local board?

A. No, unless the registrant supplies you with written authorization for access to his file. The records contained in a registrant's file, including his address, are confidential.

Q. I have been notified the State Appeal Board has turned down my request for deferment in Class II-A by a vote of 4 to 1. I am going to file an appeal with the Presidential Appeal Board. Do I have any appeal rights beyond that point if I don't get a II-A classification from that Board?

A. No. The classification given by the National Selective Service Appeal Board (Presidential Appeal Board) is final unless it is later reviewed because of new evidence which would warrant reopening and classification anew by your local board.

Q. Upon completion of my second year in college I entered the Peace Corps and was classified in Class II-A. When my tour with the Peace Corps ends next month, will I be eligible for a deferment as a student to get my baccalaureate degree before performing my military duty?

A. You will, in all probability, be eligible for a II-S. A registrant who re-enters a college as an undergraduate student, and who has been classified in Class II-A since his last full-time attendance at such institution, shall not be considered to have failed to meet the requirements of Selective Service regulations concerning full-time and satisfactory pursuit of his studies, therefore, this interruption of your academic work would not remove your eligibility for a II-S deferment.

Fireman's Appeal Is Allowed

A 3-day disciplinary suspension handed Lt. Glen M. Jones of the Circleville Fire Department Aug. 23, has been dismissed by the city's Civil Service Commission.

The suspension was ordered by City Safety Director Miller Fissell and Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe for alleged violation of departmental rules.

The rules involved were number five, as amended July 1, 1963, which involves the trading of time among firemen and number four as adopted April 18, 1950, which concerns the firemen's responsibility for routine maintenance of fire trucks.

In filing his appeal with the commission, Jones made a motion that the charge involving maintenance be dismissed. The group noted that his motion was "well taken" and sustained the motion.

THE other rule sets down procedure for trading time, stating that it may be done with permission of the officer in charge providing the person leaving duty be replaced by a person of equal skill.

The lieutenant had left the department for approximately 20 minutes one day and had called in a regular fireman to replace him. The commission, by its affirmation of the appeal, ruled that "equal skill" did not mean "equal rank."

At the hearing held Oct. 2, Jones was represented by William Mould, a Columbus attorney.

Members of the civil service commission are J. L. Bower, V. L. Hawkes and George D. Young. Kenneth Robbins represented the city in the suspension hearing.

Vietnam Vote Encourages Doves, Hawks

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — A resolution urging "the prompt return of American soldiers from Vietnam" was defeated by Cambridge voters, 17,742 to 11,349. Both critics and backers of the Johnson administration's policy on Vietnam said they were encouraged by the vote.

In Washington, Democratic National Committee Chairman John M. Bailey described the vote as "an encouraging endorsement of President Johnson's policies."

Harvard University economist and former U.S. Ambassador to India John Kenneth Galbraith said, "the administration will make a grave mistake if they assume that this is anything but a vote of no confidence."

The question appeared on municipal election ballots Nov. 7, but counting was delayed until Tuesday to allow for absentee ballots.

The resolution was approved in four of the city's 11 wards, and all four covered so-called "academic sections" of the city that is home to Harvard, Radcliffe and Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Reinforcements from the U.S. 1st Infantry Division and from South Vietnamese infantry units were ordered into the Bo Duc area today, but the action was reported over just as dawn began to break. There was no assurance, however, that the Viet Cong would not try again.

Episcopal Priests Work

NEW YORK (AP) — A day-long symposium of 90 Episcopal priests has produced general agreement that the church should classify homosexual acts between consenting adults as "morally neutral" rather than condemn such acts as wrong in themselves.

The majority took the position that such acts should be judged in each individual case by other standards, such as whether the participants were expressing genuine love or only "using" each other for selfish purposes.

The symposium on the Episcopal Church's approach to homosexuality was held Tuesday at the Cathedral Church of St. John the Divine.

The symposium was organized by the Rev. Walter D. Dennis, canon of the cathedral, and was jointly sponsored by the dioceses of New York, Long Island, Connecticut and Newark, N.J.

The main aim of the symposium, he explained to a newsman Monday night, "was to assist clergymen in their counseling."

Amend Suits From 1965 Jet Crash

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Amendments to six suits stemming from a 1965 jet passenger plane crash have been filed here claiming that the U. S. Weather Bureau was "negligent and careless" in supplying atmospheric information before the disaster.

The amendments, filed in U.S. District Court, charge the weather bureau "failed to properly diagnose weather conditions then existing in the area" of the Greater Cincinnati Airport.

Fifty-eight of 62 persons aboard an American Airlines Boeing 727 were killed when it slammed into a hillside. The amendments were filed on behalf of six plaintiffs, including one survivor.

The brief added that the weather bureau did not "anticipate weather conditions which could be reasonably encountered by aircraft attempting to land."

It was also charged that the weather bureau altered its records concerning conditions at the time of the crash.

The original suits claimed the Federal Aviation Administration was negligent because it permitted the jet to make a visual landing with thunderstorms occurring in the region.

The original suits are seeking nearly $11 million in damages.

Fire Damages Grain Dryer

A fire at the Robert Dick farm on the Dawson-Yanketown Road in Monroe Twp. destroyed nearly 400 bushels of corn and damaged a grain dryer shortly after 2 a. m. today.

Dick was drying corn when an auger on the dryer apparently became clogged, causing the fire.

The damage and loss was estimated at $450. The Mt. Sterling Fire Department was called to the scene of the blaze.

Dick was taken to Berger Hospital following the blaze and treated for a muscular spasm. The farmer noted that the prompt action of the fire department and the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department helped confine the loss caused by the fire.

Agitators Criticized By Solons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mayor Samuel F. Yorty of Los Angeles and Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, contend agitators manipulated antiwar demonstrations in places where President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk recently spoke.

Yorty told the House Committee on Un-American Activities Tuesday the demonstration in his city last June against Johnson was manipulated and planned in advance by groups seeking a confrontation with police.

Johnson was in Los Angeles then for a Democratic party affair.

Yorty said the demonstration outside Johnson's hotel was an outgrowth of a parade held to protest the President's Vietnam war policy.

Yorty said one parade sponsor was the Peace Action Council headed by a man identified by committee staff members as active in Communist Party activities in Southern California.

In a Senate speech, Lausche said a plot led to the demonstration at Indiana University which interfered with a recent speech given by Rusk.

Lausche said he's sure manipulators seeking to destroy the U.S. image are behind antiwar demonstrations on several campuses.

Fire Destroys Summer Cabin

A summer cabin located along Darby Creek in Scioto Twp. was destroyed by a fire of undetermined origin shortly before midnight yesterday.

The cabin, owned by Guy M. Smith of Columbus, was located in a heavily wooded ravine and was not discovered until the fire was raging out of control.

The Commercial Point Volunteer Fire Department was called to the scene. There was no estimate of damage. The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department assisted in the investigation of the blaze.

Eisenhower Sees 'Hot Pursuit' as Idea for Vietnam

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower says the United States can win the Vietnam war and urges greater leeway for U.S. troops in pursuing enemy forces across South Vietnam's national frontiers.

He advocated limited forays into the demilitarized zone to spike enemy artillery and "hot pursuit" of enemy ground forces, even when they seek sanctuary in neutral Cambodia or Laos.

The former Republican president and general spoke Tuesday night in a taped interview on the CBS television network along with Omar N. Bradley, the nation's only other living five-star general.

Eisenhower said Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, apparently "has about as many troops as he would like, or as he's asked for."

But he added, "Personally, I would like to see him have another 100,000 to just clean this thing up more quickly."

At another point he said "the first principle of war is to win quickly... I think that if you're going to appeal to force, and disregard all international means of getting this thing settled, then get all the force you can as quickly as you can."

Asked if he thought it was possible to win the war militarily, Eisenhower noted there were always defeatists: "People say, 'Oh, you can't win. What are we going to do? Better stop right here!' Well, that's silly. And I say, of course they can do it."

In the past Eisenhower has repeatedly declined to recommend any specific strategy in the war. He said again in the interview, "I don't believe anyone is in a position, that isn't living this problem all the time, to criticize in detail the conduct of this war."

At another point, however, Eisenhower and Bradley were asked if there was something else the nation could be doing now in Vietnam. Their replies, according to a transcript, included the following:

EISENHOWER: This respecting of boundary lines on a map. I think you can overdo it. Now we don't want to invade North Vietnam and destroy it, but they're right down in the DMZ and right north of it, and now it seems too, if we wanted, to put on an operation that would get this menace eliminated. I think this wouldn't be invading —then this would be removing a thorn in our sides. That's the way I look at it—I think you do too.

BRADLEY: In other words, you're suggesting, one operation might be to make an end run around—the DMZ—and knock their artillery out...

EISENHOWER: That's right, either from the sea, or from the hills...

BRADLEY: —from the hills. In other words they didn't respect the DMZ that was put in there and everybody was supposed to stay out of there. They disregarded that agreement and they came on through and built up in it, and shoot over it right behind the protection—maybe we should—who with, I'm not saying let's do it, but it's something we certainly have to consider...

EISENHOWER: No... But what I'm saying is, that sort of sacrosanct idea of a line on the ground that no one can see, but it's on your maps, and you must respect it in—to the ultimate...

... This, I just don't agree with... and this is not an invasion, this is just removing an annoyance, and a menace. Now, I don't care where this happens. As far as I'm concerned, I would be for what we call "hot pursuit," even in the air—if—

BRADLEY: Or on the ground?

EISENHOWER: Hm? Or on the ground, that's right. And if you're chasing some people and they just step over into Cambodia or Laos, I wouldn't—it wouldn't bother me. I'd go at 'em as long as they'd come in there in the first place. And in this same way, the air. If an airplane attacked me, and we wanted to chase him, I'd go in wherever his base was. As far as I'm concerned.

Pension Bill Keeps Boost For LBJ Pal

WASHINGTON (AP) — A section that would entitle a federal judge and longtime friend of President Johnson to a 46 per cent higher pension remains in a pending Senate pay bill after the narrow defeat of a move to eliminate it.

A critic called it "quite a Christmas present for anybody."

The controversial provision is part of a bill to raise the salaries of 2 million civilian employees of the federal government by $2.7 billion in three stages and raise postal rates by $916 million.

The legislation is up for final action today.

Most of the postal increase would take effect Jan. 7. First-class mail stamps now selling for 5 cents would go to 6 cents and air mail from 8 to 10 cents.

A sudden storm erupted Monday over a section of the bill that would enable Judge Paul J. Kilday of the U.S. Military Court of Appeals to retire on an annual pension of $26,400 a year, instead of the $18,000 he would get under present law.

Kilday, 68, was a Texas congressman for 24 years. Present regulations key his pension to his congressional salary rather than the higher pay he has made on the court since 1961.

His term runs to 1976 but he could retire before then.

A motion by Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., to eliminate the pension change was defeated, 39 to 36.

House Becomes Fortress For 9 Against the World

DOMINGUEZ, Calif. (AP) — A house that has become one family's fortress against the world may be breached by sheriff's deputies armed with warrants for the arrest of two of the nine occupants who say they won't come out "until God instructs us to."

Robert Holt, 36, has turned the rented home in this Los Angeles suburb into a retreat for himself and eight relatives. They closed the doors and drew the curtains in April.

They have lived there since without lights or heat. Weeds in the once well-tended lawn are now 6 to 8 feet high.

"You never hear a sound from that house," said Herman Hayes, a neighbor. "It's very sad and a mystery none of us can understand."

In the house are Holt, an engineer; his wife Loyce, 33; their daughters Robbie, 6, and Sally, 4. Holt's mother Ella Holt; Holt's brother, Ralph; his sister, Ella Mae Johnson; and her two sons, Cointon, 17, and Andrew, 19.

When they first began their retreat they spoke to visitors through a broken window pane.

in the front door. Now queries meet only silence.

Utilities have been turned off. Mail was delivered then picked up when it was not taken in. Nobody knows how they get food.

The savings and loan association that owns the house sent an attorney Tuesday with a notice that the Holts must pay rent they owe or move out within three days. He got no response.

When school started in September, the Holt girls didn't appear. Instead their parents went to Compton Municipal Court to plead guilty to keeping their daughters out of school.

But Judge Harry Schafer wouldn't accept the pleas. He said there may be a constitutional question of freedom of religion involved in the Holt's re-fusion to let their children attend school.

He ordered them to appear for a court hearing Monday. When they failed to appear, he issued bench warrants for the arrest of Mr. and Mrs. Holt.

Authorities say they aren't sure how to go about serving the warrants.

Fireman's Appeal Is Allowed

A 3-day disciplinary suspension handed Lt. Glen M. Jones of the Circleville Fire Department Aug. 23, has been dismissed by the city's Civil Service Commission.

The suspension was ordered by City Safety Director Miller Fissell and Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe for alleged violation of departmental rules.

The rules involved were number five, as amended July 1, 1963, which involves the trading of time among firemen and number four as adopted April 18, 1950, which concerns the firemen's responsibility for routine maintenance of fire trucks.

In filing his appeal with the commission, Jones made a motion that the charge involving maintenance be dismissed. The group noted that his motion was "well taken" and sustained the motion.

THE other rule sets down procedure for trading time, stating that it may be done with permission of the officer in charge providing the person leaving duty be replaced by a person of equal skill.

The lieutenant had left the department for approximately 20 minutes one day and had called in a regular fireman to replace him. The commission, by its affirmation of the appeal, ruled that "equal skill" did not mean "equal rank."

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Is the departure of Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara from his post the first in a series of dramatic events involving the war in Vietnam?

While the White House would neither confirm nor deny Monday night that McNamara was on his way out—although other sources did confirm it—it should always be remembered President Johnson not only has a strong political sense but also a vivid dramatic one, too.

It should be no surprise if 1968 turns out to be a very dramatic year.

Johnson and the North Vietnamese, out of the same set of circumstances, have exactly the same reason for wishing for exactly opposite results in the war next year.

The reason is the criticism piling up around Johnson for his conduct of the war from all directions, including many within his own Democratic party. Because the criticism can have a tremendous effect, it is not far-fetched to expect startling events in the months ahead.

Johnson sees his popularity and public confidence in him at a low level. Already some forces are at work within the Democratic party to keep him from being renominated in 1968.

No one knows better than Johnson that his chances for re-nomination and re-election to the presidency are in jeopardy if the war drags on through all of next year and the criticism continues to grow.

(Only Monday it was learned that Charles F. Frankel, assistant secretary of state for educational and cultural affairs, resigned, according to the Columbia Broadcasting System, in protest against Johnson's Vietnam policies.)

The fact that he is President is reason enough for Johnson to get the war over with as fast as possible. His political future gives him an added reason for wanting to.

Nothing could possibly help Johnson as much politically as a smashing defeat of the North Vietnamese before next August's Democratic nominating convention or, at the least, some weeks before the November election.

On the other side of the coin are the North Vietnamese. Even if they felt themselves slipping badly in 1968 it is not hard to imagine they would try to drag the war on through the whole year in the hope Johnson would be eliminated from politics and his successor would be anxious to make concessions outright defeat for them could not obtain.

Johnson and his two closest advisers on the war—McNamara and Secretary of State Dean Rusk—have all been on the receiving end of the criticism dumped on the administration for the war.

The President has been firm in his refusal to bow to the critics and take a softer stand in Vietnam. Both McNamara and Rusk are reportedly tired from their duties which began when President John F. Kennedy appointed them in 1961.

But if the two men should step aside within a relatively short time of each other it is almost certain to be interpreted as an effort by Johnson to pacify his critics a bit while still continuing the war.

If these two men go, it is not unlikely some other highly placed ones will follow. If that happens then by convention time the war, except for Johnson, will be in the hands of a new team.

At first glance that might seem a political benefit to Johnson. Actually, it might have the opposite effect on the public mind. The solution to the war, which is the root of the anti-Johnson criticism, is not here. It's in Vietnam.

Try and Stop Me

AN ENGLISH guide was showing Kenilworth Castle to a gentleman from the Bronx. "For hundreds of years," he intoned, "not a stone of this edifice has been touched, not a single thing repaired." "Say," observed the Bronxite, "we must have the same landlord."

Chop suey, contrary to the belief of 95 per cent of U.S. citizens, is not a Chinese dish at all—but purely American. You can't get a decent dish of chop suey in the whole of Hong Kong—unless you patronize a restaurant catering exclusively to American tourists.

Chinese gourmets aver that chop suey—they call it "beggars' hash"—originated in the San Francisco region during the gold rush in the 1850's. A group of miners allegedly descended upon a Chinese restaurant there after hours clamoring for chow. The canny proprietor threw all the leavings in his kitchen into a big kettle, heated up the mess, and served same, ready to run for the hills. But the miners LOVED it. And THAT, chuckle the Chinese food experts, is the "chop suey" silly Americans demand!

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

What is the value and purpose of a throat culture? Even when a person is in excellent health a wide variety of bacteria and fungi and viruses lie on the lining of the mouth, nose, pharynx and bronchial tubes. In a rather remarkable way these three forms of micro-organisms live together in harmony. The body defenses keep this balance steady until something upsets it.

A new bug, a new virus or a strange fungus, picked up from an infected person, may disturb the harmony and produce illness.

It comes out that the U.S. Marine Corps officially disapproves of pinups. That's brass.

A chaplain in Vietnam preached a Sunday sermon against pinups. Evidently he is unaware of the answer to a Leatherneck's prayers.

The sermon was entitled "Disrespectful Pinups." That has to mean how they look, because they can't answer back.

The chaplain called a "desirespectful pinup" one "you would not feel free to hang up in your own home." That's hitting them where they'd like to live.

"These pinups are sad because they set a standard of beauty to which the average girl just cannot attain," said the chaplain. As far as the Marines are concerned, that's mini-skirting the issue.

The chaplain said Marines should look at pinups with "the following thought: The woman portrayed there is one of God's creatures." Well, at least he put in a good word for GOD.

The Leathernecks say pinups are good for morale. A pretty girl is like a melody, and the Marines aren't afraid to face the music.

Women sometimes think a fat man looks foolish wearing a bow tie. But for him it's less a matter of fashion than of investment. It's almost impossible for a fat man to spill food on a bow tie.

NOV. 1922

The Country Gentleman, in its November 1922 issue, carried an article which held much interest to the people of the city and county.

A summation of that article with an excellent description of this prosperous community of 8,000 and the surrounding country 45 years ago reads as follows.

"We have seven canning factories in the county, of which four are located in Circleville. These use the vegetable products from approximately 6,000 acres. We have a paper mill that manufactures straw board. There is a broom factory, a packing plant, three flour mills and a shoe manufacturing concern here in the city. There are 21 elevators and seven creameries in the county.

"We have ten banks within the county, four of them in Circleville with a total capitalization of $565,000. The largest is capitalized at $125,000. We have 26 groceries, four wagon and implement dealers, several large department and drygoods stores, five or six shoe stores, three jewelry stores and a number of furniture houses, drug stores, garages and such other firms as you find in any town this size.

"The biggest business in Pickaway County is the farmer. The tax duplicates show the farms of our county are worth about four times as much as the total real property in Circleville and all the other towns in the county combined."

Refuge in Technicalities

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

What we don't know, or rather, what we don't realize in time! Fifteen years ago the late Whitaker Chambers began talking about the dangers of "space platforms" which, circling the world, could begin to rain down atomic destruction on an innocent nation without warning. Chambers had other prophecies, such as the one that the Soviet Union would try to throw a loop around Europe from the South, by taking over the Mediterranean coast of North Africa.

Well, it now seems that Algeria's Col. Houari Boumedienne is pretty much in Moscow's pocket, so the southern snare for Europe is being set in place. But the "space platform" menace isn't quite here.

Or is it? Secretary of Defense Robert Strange McNamara, let a large cat out of the bag when he said the Soviets had tested something he called a Fractional Orbital Bombardment System, or FOBS. In announcing this, the Secretary tried his damndest to reassure everybody that an FOBS did not violate our "outer space" treaty with the Soviet Union. But this was one of those "honest" performances that depend on technicalities that are neither here nor there. The fact that the Russians had tested their "space platform" bomb by sending it aloft for something less than one orbit of the earth does not mean that they couldn't put it in a capsule that would keep going. Anyway, why would the Soviets want an orbital bomb to go one-and-one-half times around the world to do its dirty work when the United States is only half a world away from Moscow? Enough is enough.

What is disturbing about Secretary McNamara is his habit of taking refuge in technicalities. The Soviet orbital bomb, whether "fractional" or otherwise, was clearly described last summer in the report put out by the American Security Council. It was called the "scrag," and it got some mention in the newspapers. Before that it had been the subject of an analysis by Stanford University's Dr. Stefan Possony in the Republican Congressional Committee's Newsletter. But the really grisly joker is that the Soviets paraded an orbital bomb in Moscow more than two years ago. McNamara must have known about it if he had looked at the newspaper pictures of the time. So why, when he is finally compelled to mention it, is he so concerned to make it seem that the U.S. has only suspected "for a month or so" that the Russians "are pursuing the development of an FOBS?" Does the CIA know less than professors and reporters insofar as the public record discloses, McNamara is always being caught by events. The United States desisted from building an anti-missile missile system for fear of starting a costly defensive armament race. Then, one bright day, McNamara had to admit that the Russians already had an anti-missile missile network in place. Quite lamely, it was announced that the U.S. would build an anti-missile missile system of sorts in order to be ready for the time when the Red Chinese might have rocket power sufficient to put an atomic warhead over the United States.

Now, having been caught by the disclosure of the "fractional" orbital bomb which could land on New York or Detroit with only three minutes warning, McNamara is talking of negating it with "over-the-horizon radar." But what good will radar detection do us if we haven't an anti-missile missile ready to destroy the FOBS? As things stand now, we have neither the over-the-horizon radar nor the anti-missile missile. The time to begin thinking about our deficiencies was two years ago, when the Russians first paraded the orbital bomb in their Moscow show.

It may very well be that the Soviets intend their FOBS as a "terror" weapon, not something to be thrown into action. But terror required a positive response if our enemy is not some day to win a bloodless victory. By failing to answer the Soviets when a threat is first disclosed McNamara spreads the idea abroad that we might prefer to capitulate rather than risk atomic destruction.

Senator Henry Jackson of Washington has said there will be a "great flap when the people finally realize the great strides Russia has made in offensive weaponry." The question is why McNamara tries to lull his own countrymen into thinking the Soviet "strides" don't amount to very much when they obviously do.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — A threat to the European way of life, a takeover of its economy, a neutralization of its power are among the dangers threatened by America — in the view of Charles de Gaulle, president of France.

De Gaulle's financial advisers even foresee the deterioration of the system by which nations settle their accounts with each other, thus threatening a world economic collapse. Again, the United States would be at fault. Through understanding De Gaulle's fears, one can also realize that he is not simply an imperious old man but, once again, a general protecting France and in fact all Europe from domination by an invader — an economic invader.

Over the longer term he feels also that he is protecting the whole misbehaving world from its financial follies by demanding that it settle its bank accounts and keep them settled before it is too late.

These fears lay behind the general's almost incessant attacks on the manner in which the world's nations pay bills to each other. They pay in U.S. dollars, and De Gaulle doesn't like it. Why?

As his financial advisers have stated, the United States has been running the printing presses day and night. It is inflating the value of its dollars, and it is using them then to buy into the European economy.

This accounts for De Gaulle's news conference statement that American economic power in Europe is "due in large part not so much to the organic superiority of the United States as to the dollar inflation."

This view is far out of proportion. In a speech at Boston Oct. 20 his own monetary idea man, Jacques Rueff, conceded that the "American economy is still the most powerful in the world."

Perhaps, then, the general's statement betrays his anger and frustration at being forced to view American trademarks, American manners, American money, American arrogance and American factories all about him. But France is free to invade America too.

As W. Averell Harriman,

American ambassador at large, told some European economists early this year, the economic organism moves both ways. Europeans are welcome; if able, to invest in the United States.

Nevertheless, De Gaulle feels that inflated dollars are throwing out of whack the ratios of currencies to each other. If the United States was forced to back every dollar with a bit of gold, the French say, then money couldn't be printed so easily.

This would be a return, a gold standard, to the gold standard. As matters stand now, the world uses the gold exchange standard. This means that dollars held by foreign governments can be converted to gold. But it doesn't limit the amount of dollars the United States can print. Only part of the money is gold backed.

The result is that when the United States runs up bills abroad there can be more dollars out than are covered by gold. However, for many years now there has been confidence in the power of America's economy. Why bother turning them in for gold? Why not use the dollars instead?

This is what has happened. The dollar, and its cousin, the pound, have been used in place of gold. They are reserve currencies, and as long as nations are confident that they reflect true value these dollars and pounds can continue as gold replacements.

The pound faltered and now, says De Gaulle, the dollar also is not as good as gold. He has strongly indicated that nations should return to a full gold standard, printing only so much money as can be easily redeemed. This would stabilize economies, he feels, in this way:

When gold flowed out of a country it would have to reduce the money in circulation. This would mean deflation, such as Britain is undergoing. Prices would fall automatically. Soon the world again would become interested in the low-priced goods. Gold would return. The nation's economy would expand. But, say thousands of puzzled analysts, where is all this gold going to come from? True, an ounce of gold can perform wonders, such as permitting itself to be drawn into a wire 50 miles long. But that's metallurgy, not finance.

Not necessarily so, the French gold advisers say. Monetary gold stretches, too; it isn't the weight that is important, they say, but the value attached to it. The world can have enough gold for trade simply by doubling its value to $70 an ounce.

And that's the rub, or as some feel, the plot. By doubling the price of gold the United States automatically would cut the value of its currency in half.

Viet Entertainment

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The entertainment outlook for Vietnam: plenty of star volunteers, but not enough Negroes.

This is the report from character actor George Chandler, chairman of the Hollywood Overseas Committee, which sends talent to entertain American servicemen in Vietnam.

"We have our program filled until next spring," said Chandler. "Martha Raye is over there now with the 'Hello, Dolly!' company. The 'Rat Patrol' boys—Chris George and Larry Casey—left last week.

"We have plenty of volunteers for January and February, and we won't set them definitely until we find out what their commitments are. But among those who want to go over are Lana Turner, Danny Thomas, Arthur O'Connell, Lee Marvin, Maxie Rosenbloom, Robert Wagner, George Gobel, Richard Conte, Marie Wilson and Tony Randall."

Barbara McNair has been announced as a member of the Hope troupe; otherwise no Negro names appear among the future entertainers in Vietnam. Chandler was asked about reports Negro performers have been pressured not to support the war effort.

"I don't know whether the Negro stars have been pressured or not," he replied. "I know that we have been pressured to send more Negroes over there, because of the large number of Negro troops in Vietnam. Naturally they want to see some of their own entertainers. In the past we have sent such names as Archie Moore, Floyd Patterson, John Bubbles and the Clara Ward Singers.

"I know that some Negro leaders have advocated that their own people do nothing to support the war, and this may have influenced the stars. At any rate, there is only a handful of important Negro stars to choose from. Only one of them—Sammy Davis Jr.—has volunteered to go. So far he has canceled three times, because of other engagements.

"The committee is not involved in politics. Whether this is a popular war or not is of no concern to us. Our only feeling is that there are half a million pretty homesick American boys in Vietnam, and the greatest list they can have is to see a Charlton Heston or a John Wayne or a Robert Mitchum."

Lt. Col. R. C. Beasley, chief of the Air Force professional entertainment, was here conferring with Chandler this week, and he confirmed that the supply of talent to Vietnam is sufficient.

"We have to strike a happy balance between what we would like to do and what the command can support," he explained. "There is a limit of how many troupes Vietnam can handle, because of the difficulties of transporting the talent and providing maximum security for them."

Chinese gourmets aver that chop suey—they call it "beggar's hash"—originated in the San Francisco region during the gold rush in the 1850's. A group of miners allegedly descended upon a Chinese restaurant there after hours clamoring for chow. The canny proprietor threw all the leavings in his kitchen into a big kettle, heated up the mess, and served same, ready to run for the hills. But the miners LOVED it. And THAT, chuckle the Chinese food experts, is the "chop suey" silly Americans demand!

At the dinner table every one surrounding you will have his own private way of helping you. Sipping ice water, swallowing a piece of dry toast, holding your breath, blowing into a paper bag, pressure on the neck and tickling the nose to cause a sneeze will be some of the suggestions. By the time you listen to all of them the hiccups will usually stop.

My least favorite dinner partner is the 220 - pound fullback who decides, at the peak of your distress, that a good swat between the shoulder blades is the only way to cure the hiccups. Done without your permission, the hiccups may go, but the shoulders will hurt for a week.

Hiccups following surgery can sometimes be exhausting and may resist all kinds of treatment. Recently, it has been discovered that these attacks of hiccups can be controlled and stooped by gently passing a thin rubber tube through the nose and into the back of the mouth. This is a valuable contribution for persistent hiccups.

Walking fatigue can be caused by varicose veins unseen by the naked eye.

Today is Wednesday, Nov. 29, the 333rd day of 1967. There are 32 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1760, the French surrendered Detroit to the English at the end of the French and Indian War.

On this date: In 1832, the American writer, Louisa May Alcott, was born. In 1889, the United States, Switzerland and France recognized the Republic of Brazil.

In 1922 archaeologists announced they had found fabulous treasure in the tomb of King Tutankhamen in Egypt.

In 1942, during World War II, the rationing of coffee went into effect throughout the United States.

In 1943, the Nazis arrested 1,200 students and professors at Oslo University in Norway.

Ten years ago — President Dwight D. Eisenhower was flown to his Gettysburg, Pa., farm to recuperate after suffering a mild stroke.

Five years ago — India and Pakistan announced agreement to negotiate their dispute over Kashmir.

One year ago — The United Nations decided for the 16th time not to seat Communist China.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Is the departure of Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara from his post the first in a series of dramatic events involving the war in Vietnam?

While the White House would neither confirm nor deny Monday night that McNamara was on his way out—although other sources did confirm it—it should always be remembered President Johnson not only has a strong political sense but also a vivid dramatic one, too.

It should be no surprise if 1968 turns out to be a very dramatic year.

Johnson and the North Vietnamese, out of the same set of circumstances, have exactly the same reason for wishing for exactly opposite results in the war next year.

The reason is the criticism piling up around Johnson for his conduct of the war from all directions, including many within his own Democratic party. Because the criticism can have a tremendous effect, it is not far fetched to expect startling events in the months ahead.

Johnson sees his popularity and public confidence in him at a low level. Already some forces are at work within the Democratic party to keep him from being renominated in 1968.

No one knows better than Johnson that his chances for renomination and re-election to the presidency are in jeopardy if the war drags on through all of next year and the criticism continues to grow.

(Only Monday it was learned that Charles F. Frankel, assistant secretary of state for educational and cultural affairs, resigned, according to the Columbia Broadcasting System, in protest against Johnson's Vietnam policies.)

The fact that he is President is reason enough for Johnson to get the war over with as fast as possible. His political future gives him an added reason for wanting to.

Nothing could possibly help Johnson as much politically as a smashing defeat of the North Vietnamese before next August's Democratic nominating convention or, at the least, some weeks before the November election.

On the other side of the coin are the North Vietnamese.

Even if they felt themselves slipping badly in 1968 it is not hard to imagine they would try to drag the war on through the whole year in the hope Johnson would be eliminated from politics and his successor would be anxious to make concessions outright defeat for them could not obtain. Johnson and his two closest advisers on the war—McNamara and Secretary of State Dean Rusk—have all been on the receiving end of the criticism dumped on the administration for the war.

The President has been firm in his refusal to bow to the critics and take a softer stand in Vietnam. Both McNamara and Rusk are reportedly tired from their duties which began when President John F. Kennedy appointed them in 1961.

But if the two men should step aside within a relatively short time of each other it is almost certain to be interpreted as an effort by Johnson to pacify his critics a bit while still continuing the war.

If these two men go, it is not unlikely some other highly placed ones will follow. If that happens then by convention time the war, except for Johnson, will be in the hands of a new team.

At first glance that might seem a political benefit to Johnson. Actually, it might have the opposite effect on the public mind. The solution to the war, which is the root of the anti-Johnson criticism, is not here. It's in Vietnam.

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — A threat to the European way of life, a takeover of its economy, a neutralization of its power are among the dangers threatened by America — in the view of Charles de Gaulle, president of France.

De Gaulle's financial advisers even foresee the deterioration of the system by which nations settle their accounts with each other, thus threatening a world economic collapse. Again, the United States would be at fault.

Through understanding De Gaulle's fears, one can also realize that he is not simply an imperious old man but, once again, a general protecting France and in fact all Europe from domination by an invader — an economic invader.

Over the longer term he feels also that he is protecting the whole misbehaving world from its financial follies by demanding that it settle its bank accounts and keep them settled before it is too late.

These fears lay behind the general's almost incessant attacks on the manner in which the world's nations pay bills to each other. They pay in U.S. dollars, and De Gaulle doesn't like it, Why?

As his financial advisers have stated, the United States has been running the printing presses day and night. It is inflating the value of its dollars, and it is using them then to buy into the European economy.

This accounts for De Gaulle's news conference statement that American economic power in Europe is "due in large part not so much to the organic superiority of the United States as to the dollar inflation."

This view is far out of proportion. In a speech at Boston Oct. 20 his own monetary idea man, Jacques Rueff, conceded that the "American economy is still the most powerful in the world."

Perhaps, then, the general's statement betrays his anger and frustration at being forced to view American trademarks, American manners, American money, American arrogance and American factories all about him. But France is free to invade America too.

As W. Averell Harriman,

American ambassador at large, told some European economists early this year, the economic organism moves both ways. Europeans are welcome, if able, to invest in the United States.

Nevertheless, De Gaulle feels that inflated dollars are throwing out of whack the ratios of currencies to each other. If the United States was forced to back every dollar with a bit of gold, the French say, then money couldn't be printed so easily.

This would be a return, a retreat some say, to the gold standard.

As matters stand now, the world uses the gold exchange standard. This means that dollars held by foreign governments will can be converted to gold. But it doesn't limit the amount of dollars the United States can print. Only part of the money is gold backed.

The result is that when the United States runs up bills abroad there can be more dollars out than are covered by gold. However, for many years now there has been confidence in the power of America's economy. Why bother turning them in for gold? Why not use the dollars instead?

This is what has happened. The dollar, and its cousin, the pound, have been used in place of gold. They are reserve currencies, and as long as nations are confident that they reflect true value these dollars and pounds can continue as gold replacements.

The pound faltered and now, says De Gaulle, the dollar also is not as good as gold. He has strongly indicated that nations should return to a full gold standard, printing only so much money as can be easily redeemed. This would stabilize economies, he feels, in this way:

When gold flowed out of a country it would have to reduce the money in circulation. This would mean deflation, such as Britain is undergoing. Prices would fall automatically. Soon the world again would become interested in the low-priced goods. Gold would return. The nation's economy would expand.

But, say thousands of puzzled analysts, where is all this gold going to come from? True, an ounce of gold can perform wonders, such as permitting itself to be "drawn into a wire 50 miles long. But that's metallurgy, not finance.

Not necessarily so, the French gold advisers say. Monetary gold stretches, too; it isn't the weight that is important, they say, but the value attached to it. The world can have enough gold for trade simply by doubling its value to $70 an ounce.

And that's the rub, or as some feel, the plot. By doubling the price of gold the United States automatically would cut the value of its currency in half.

Viet Entertainment

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The entertainment outlook for Vietnam; plenty of star volunteers, but not enough Negroes.

This is the report from character actor George Chandler, chairman of the Hollywood Overseas Committee, which sends talent to entertain American servicemen in Vietnam.

"We have our program filled until next spring," said Chandler. "Martha Raye is over there now with the 'Hello, Dolly!' company. The 'Rat Patrol' boys—Chris George and Larry Casey—left last week.

"We have plenty of volunteers for January and February, and we won't set them definitely until we find out what their commitments are. But among those who want to go over are Lana Turner, Danny Thomas, Arthur O'Connell, Lee Marvin, Maxie Rosenbloom, Robert Wagner, George Gobel, Richard Conte, Marie Wilson and Tony Randall."

Barbara McNair has been announced as a member of the Hope troupe; otherwise no Negro names appear among the future entertainers in Vietnam. Chandler was asked about reports Negro performers have been pressured not to support the war effort.

"I don't know whether the Negro stars have been pressured or not," he replied. "I know that we have been pressured to send more Negro stars over there, because of the large number of Negroes in Vietnam. Naturally ally they want to see some of their own entertainers. In the past we have sent such names as Archie Moore, Floyd Patterson, John Bubbles and the Clara Ward Singers.

"I know that some Negro leaders have advocated that their own people do nothing to support the war, and this may have influenced the stars. At any rate, there is only a handful of important Negro stars to choose from. Only one of them—Sammy Davis Jr.—has volunteered to go. So far he has canceled three times, because of other engagements.

"The committee is not involved in politics. Whether this is a popular war or not is of no concern to us. Our only feeling is that there are half a million pretty homesick American boys in Vietnam, and the greatest lift they can have is to see a Charlton Heston or a John Wayne or a Robert Mitchum."

Lt. Col. R. C. Beasley, chief of the Air Force professional entertainment, was here conferring with Chandler this week, and he confirmed that the supply of talent to Vietnam is sufficient.

"We have to strike a happy balance between what we would like to do and what the command can support," he explained. "There is a limit of how many troupes Vietnam can handle, because of the difficulties of transporting the talent and providing maximum security for them."

DISCUSS SHOPLIFTING — Seventy-five local retailers and their personnel attended the Chamber of Commerce sponsored program on the prevention of shoplifting Tuesday night. Mother Tells Background To Son's Slaying of Father

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—The mother of a 16-year-old boy on trial for killing his father testified Tuesday that her son was on parental-imposed probation for stealing when her husband was slain.

Fred M. Esherrick Jr. is being tried in Lake County Common Pleas Court for first-degree murder in the slaying of his father in their home here last May 5.

The prosecution charges the boy killed his father with a bayonet and assaulted his mother, then put them in the trunk of the family car and dumped them in a creek near Painesville.

Mrs. Aldona Esherrick, 48, subpoenaed as a state witness, testified that she and her husband placed the boy on probation for stealing $12 from his paper route and the probation was still in effect when Esherrick was killed.

She said the boy was confined to the house and was not allowed to have any friends visit or to go out, except to go to school.

The defense contends a rigid home atmosphere led to plans by the boy to stage a kidnapping, but the plans fell apart, leading to the slaying.

Mrs. Esherrick said she loved her son and everything she and her husband did in disciplining him was in his best interests.

Defense lawyer John S. Nelson's cross examination of Mrs. Esherrick produced testimony that young Esherrick received a weekly allowance of $1.50, was not allowed to date until his junior year of high school and was made to lie on a bed to be spanked.

The boy wept and showed emotion for the first time in his trial as his mother earlier described events on the evening of the slaying.

Mrs. Esherrick said her son struck her after calling her into his bedroom after the family had finished dinner.

"I fell on my hands and knees at the foot of the bed," she said. "He was standing there with the knife (bayonet) in his hand. I looked up and asked 'Why, Freddy, Why?'"

She quoted the boy as saying, "Because I hate you." She said she passed out later when grabbed by the throat and she regained consciousness in the trunk of the car.

"I didn't know where I was or what had happened," she testified.

"She said she called out 'Where am I?' and 'Fred answered, 'You are in the trunk of the car. Daddy is dead and I am going to kill you.'"

Dr. Leary To Reject Public Life

LAGUNA BEACH, Calif. (AP)—LSD advocate Dr. Timothy Leary, who once advised young people to "Tune in, turn on and drop out," says he is "dropping out of public life."

Leary, living in Laguna Beach with his wife of two weeks, condemned the use of drugs for "selfish kicks." He said he is giving up his work with the "League for Spiritual Discovery," a group he founded.

"LSD, when used properly, is a sacrament aimed to produce love of God and man," Leary told the Laguna News-Post. "If it is used for selfish kicks it is harmful."

Leary said he and the former Rosemary Woodruff, 33, a former actress and model who worked as his administrative assistant, were married Nov. 11. He said they were married in a sunrise ceremony at the top of a mountain in the desert near Joshua Tree, Calif. They will live in Laguna Beach for the winter, he said.

Leary, a psychologist, left Harvard University in 1963 following criticism of his advocacy of using the psychedelic drug LSD.

Leary last week said young people today abuse the psychedelic drugs much as many Americans abuse alcohol.

Rhodes To Help Clermont Auction

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes will help auction $5.5 million worth of tobacco during a visit to Clermont County in Southwest Ohio next month.

Rhodes is scheduled to attend a breakfast in Amelia Dec. 14 to discuss plans for an air institute, community college and vocational school.

The air institute would emphasize aviation training in all areas except pollution and would be located near Batavia, adjacent to a planned airport.

Rhodes then will join tobacco growers and warehousemen in Ripley for a burlap sale and will attend a luncheon as a guest of State Rep. William Mussey, R-12, Clermont.

Police Nab Man after Wild Chase

CLEVELAND (AP)—A Cleveland State Hospital escapee was chased and caught by police from two suburbs Tuesday night after he stabbed a cab driver and stole a Shaker Heights police car, police reported.

The chase in Shaker Heights and Cleveland Heights ended when the stolen cruiser crashed into a tree in Cleveland Heights.

Police said the escapee, identified as Roger Morris, 27, of Cleveland, would be returned to the hospital.

The cab-driver, 54-year-old Ulysses I. Morrow, was stabbed in the right shoulder and also suffered head cuts. He was treated at St. Luke's Hospital and released.

Following the stabbing, Morrow ran bleeding to a home in Shaker Heights and police were called. Two cruisers answered the call.

Police said that while one of the policemen was in the house, Morrow hopped in his cruiser and drove away.

Priest To Marry Nurse Dec. 16

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The Rev. James Kavanaugh, a Roman Catholic priest, says he will be married Dec. 16 to a nurse.

Father Kavanaugh, 39, author of the best-selling "A Modern Priest Looks at His Outdated Church," told newsmen Tuesday his wedding to Patricia Jean Walden, 35, will take place whether or not the Catholic Church grants his three-month-old request for permission to resign from the priesthood.

The priest currently works for the Human Relations Institute in La Jolla, a San Diego suburb. He said the marriage will take place in the home of his brother, Dr. Philip Kavanaugh of La Jolla.

Miss Walden is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Walden, of St. Petersburg, Fla. She is an Episcopalian, and the Rev. David Crump, an Episcopal priest from Newport Beach, Calif., will perform the ceremony.

Father Kavanaugh says he has in effect resigned as a priest but he still considers himself a Catholic. A Catholic spokesman in San Diego said that, once ordained, a priest is forever ordained unless relieved of his duties by papal dispensation. If a priest marries, the spokesman said, the union is not considered valid and is equivalent to de facto excommunication.

"Officially, they can say I might be excommunicated," Father Kavanaugh commented. "But the primary source of any sin would be man's violation of his own personal conscience. Since I am acting in accord with my conscience, I am acting in accord with God." Father Kavanaugh was a priest in Lansing, Mich., before coming to the Human Resources Institute. He received an extended leave of absence from Bishop Alexander Zaleski shortly before his book was published this year.

COUNTRY STORE VISITORS — Shown here are customers of the annual luncheon and country store sponsored by the Women of St. Philip's Church in the parish house on Tuesday. Co-chairmen heading the various committees were Mrs. William Weldon, Mrs. Robert Hutzelman and Mrs. Walter Howard.

Dr. J. M. Friedman Addresses Nurses Assn.

The November meeting of the and Graduate Nurses Assn. was held in the home of Mrs. Charles Kirkpatrick with 27 members and one guest, Mrs. Brenda Armstrong, present.

Mrs. James Fosnaugh, president, introduced Dr. J. M. Friedman, the speaker for the evening. Dr. Friedman is director of the Scioto-Point Valley Guidance Center in Chillicothe. He is a graduate of the University of Vienna, Austria, came to the United States from England during World War II. He has had additional training experience at the Menninger Foundation, Topeka, Kan., and a one year Fellowship in child psychiatry at Harvard University. He is an American Board Certified Psychiatrist.

Dr. Friedman's 32 years of private and community psychiatry includes director of two Mental Hygiene clinics in the state of Delaware, service with the Veterans Administration in Georgia and intensive work with children and consultant at a home for the aged, both in New York.

In April 1966, he accepted the directorship of the Guidance Center, which serves five counties: Ross, Pickaway, Pike, Fayette and Highland.

Dr. Friedman related the various steps in the early stages of child psychology. Prevention of emotional problems can sometimes be made during pregnancy with an expectant mother who has special problems. Any extremity of emotions, either accepting or rejecting the forthcoming child could affect the newborn. This also could occur immediately following the birth of an infant.

A newborn up to the age of six months is completely dependant upon the mother and his needs must be cared for immediately, however, after about six months of age, a child becomes more individual and should begin to use his own potential. If, for some reason, this pattern is not attained, major difficulties could appear in the second year of growth.

A child has an environment of at least five circles of attention. First an inner circle is the child himself; the second circle is the mother relationship; third, the father; fourth, the brothers and sisters, and fifth, the grandparents. This can be extended to friends and other relatives. Any irregularity from the normal relationship with the child could lead to an emotional disturbance.

Dr. Friedman went on to point out the various signs of emotional problems in infants up to two years of age and the role of the immediate family in such a situation. A question and answer period followed his talk.

The business meeting was presided over by Mrs. Fosnaugh. Volunteers were obtained for the Well-Child Clinic on Wed. Dec. 13, and the Blood Bank on Friday, Dec. 1.

Names were distributed to each member of the foster children in Pickaway County. Gifts are to be brought to the Christmas party in December. Mrs. Gladys Robinson may be contacted if a name is desired.

Mrs. Fosnaugh explained a brochure from the Ohio State University concerning a "Tour of Heart Research" on Sat. from 9:30 a. m. until 1 p. m. Your upholstered furniture needs more than a quick brush off if you want it to last. Dust and dirt left on furniture keep rubbing against the fabric. This constant rubbing action of grit and sand can destroy any fabric. So, vacuum your upholstered pieces at least once a week all over, especially under the seat cushions. Reversing the cushions tends to keep the fabric smooth fitting, too.

Constant film on your drinking glasses? It comes from the sticky curd formed from soap, grease, and hard water. If this film remains on glass, gradual corrosion will permanently mar the glass surface. Just wash your glasses in soft water, recommends The Lindsay Company, the manufacturer of automatic home water softeners, and they'll come out sparkling clean and corrosion free.

Hibachi hounds should try this combination next time they entertain. Spear tiny canned cocktail frankfurters on a skewer with pineapple cubes. Heat them on the hibachi. Provide your favorite sweet-sour sauce for "dipping."

For skin-deep beauty, diet and exercise are important. Protein in meat, fish, milk, cheese, eggs, etc. tones the muscles that keep your skin firm. Vitamin C helps make your skin softer. Vitamin A in butter, carrots, and apricots wards off aging skin. Lack of exercise may cause a dull, sallow complexion, and may even mar it with whiteheads. Dr. J. M. Friedman Addresses Nurses Assn.

The November meeting of the and Graduate Nurses Assn. was held in the home of Mrs. Charles Kirkpatrick with 27 members and one guest, Mrs. Brenda Armstrong, present.

Mrs. James Fosnaugh, president, introduced Dr. J. M. Friedman, the speaker for the evening. Dr. Friedman is director of the Scioto-Paint Valley Guidance Center in Chillicothe. He is a graduate of the University of Vienna, Austria, came to the United States from England during World War II. He has had additional training experience at the Menninger Foundation, Topeka, Kan., and a one year Fellowship in child psychiatry at Harvard University. He is an American Board Certified Psychiatrist.

Dr. Friedman's 32 years of private and community psychiatry includes director of two Mental Hygiene clinics in the state of Delaware, service with the Veterans Administration in Georgia and intensive work with children and consultant at a home for the aged, both in New York.

In April 1966, he accepted the directorship of the Guidance Center, which serves five counties: Ross, Pickaway, Pike, Fayette and Highland.

Dr. Friedman related the various steps in the early stages of child psychology. Prevention of emotional problems can sometimes be made during pregnancy with an expectant mother who has special problems. Any extremity of emotions, either accepting or rejecting the forthcoming child could affect the newborn. This also could occur immediately following the birth of an infant.

A newborn up to the age of six months is completely dependant upon the mother and his needs must be cared for immediately, however, after about six months of age, a child becomes more individual and should begin to use his own potential. If, for some reason, this pattern is not attained, major difficulties could appear in the second year of growth.

A child has an environment of at least five circles of attention. First an inner circle is the child himself; the second circle is the mother relationship;

third, the father; fourth, the brothers and sisters; and fifth, the grandparents. This can be extended to friends and other relatives. Any irregularity from the normal relationship with the child could lead to an emotional disturbance.

Dr. Friedman went on to point out the various signs of emotional problems in infants up to two years of age and the role of the immediate family in such a situation. A question and answer period followed his talk.

The business meeting was presided over by Mrs. Fosnaugh. Volunteers were obtained for the Well-Child Clinic on Wed. Dec. 13, and the Blood Bank on Friday, Dec. 1.

Names were distributed to each member of the foster children in Pickaway County. Gifts are to be brought to the Christmas party in December. Mrs. Gladys Robinson may be contacted if a name is desired.

McNamara Successor Faces Tough Row To Hoe

The Circleville Herald, Wed. Nov. 29, 1967
Circleville, Ohio

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The next secretary of defense will have to establish his authority early.

The armed services tamed by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, are likely to test his successor's mettle.

The new Pentagon chief also may have to face a Congress bent on showing him it is boss. For nearly seven years, Congress has smarted under what some members have called McNamara's arrogance and "know-it-all" attitude.

The next defense chief also will inherit vexing problems from McNamara, among them the Vietnam war and the still troubled F111 fighter plane project, once known as the TFX.

McNamara also will leave behind him a fundamental budget reform which is his monument.

That budget approach, which he installed and enforced on the services in 1961, probably will continue to operate to suppress service bickering over the split-up of defense dollars.

It is this budget reform, among others, that McNamara has claimed is "driven into the bedrock" of the huge military establishment and will remain after him.

He also brought about fundamental alterations in basic national defense strategy, switching from reliance on massive nuclear retaliation to a more flexible ability to meet Communist threats at every level of war, from insurgency on up.

McNamara's philosophy, as he spelled it out to the Associated Press some years ago, was to establish a single final authority over the enormously complex defense establishment.

"Whoever is head of the department should run it," McNamara said. "The head of any organization ought to place himself in position to make decisions and to stand behind them."

McNamara, working 12-hour days, has made hundreds of separate decisions, involving billions of dollars, in personal item-by-item reviews of military budget proposals each year.

This detailed personal involvement has been criticized by some on grounds a really good administrator would delegate as much authority as possible to trusted subordinates.

The generals and admirals have often chafed under McNamara's imposed restraints, but none have dared to challenge him in public. He has made no secret of his determination to keep the armed services from quarreling among themselves or lobbying outside of the department for their projects or interests.

McNamara has served more than two years longer than any of the seven previous secretaries of defense. Even among his critics, he is conceded to have run the Defense Department with greater effectiveness and discipline than any of the others.

If it had not been for the Vietnam war, McNamara probably would have left the Pentagon after the completion of four years. Associates have said he told them on occasion a man should move on after four years in such a job because he becomes stale.

There are those who claim this has happened to McNamara—that he and his aides have offered few new ideas in recent years, but have spent their energies defending old ones which they put into effect with dazzling speed and virtuosity in the early days of the McNamara stewardship.

It is obvious that McNamara is a tired man. He is a millionaire and needs no job for income purposes.

Most Pentagon observers had expected him to stay in office at least until after the 1968 presidential election. Whether he is being eased out because President Johnson may regard him as a political liability is a matter of conjecture. Few of his staff had any advance word of his nomination to the World Bank presidency.

Loyal McNamara supporters will insist he left on his own terms.

The timing of his departure is uncertain.

But now that the word is out that he is leaving he becomes a lame duck secretary—and lame ducks lose their clout very quickly.

He has made no secret of his determination to keep the armed services from quarreling among themselves or lobbying outside of the department for their projects or interests.

McNamara has served more than two years longer than any of the seven previous secretaries of defense. Even among his critics, he is conceded to have run the Defense Department with greater effectiveness and discipline than any of the others.

If it had not been for the Vietnam war, McNamara probably would have left the Pentagon after the completion of four years. Associates have said he told them on occasion a man should move on after four years in such a job because he becomes stale.

There are those who claim this has happened to McNamara—that he and his aides have offered few new ideas in recent years, but have spent their energies defending old ones which they put into effect with dazzling speed and virtuosity in the early days of the McNamara stewardship.

It is obvious that McNamara is a tired man. He is a millionaire and needs no job for income purposes.

Most Pentagon observers had expected him to stay in office at least until after the 1968 presidential election. Whether he is being eased out because President Johnson may regard him as a political liability is a matter of conjecture. Few of his staff had any advance word of his nomination to the World Bank presidency.

Loyal McNamara supporters will insist he left on his own terms.

The timing of his departure is uncertain.

But now that the word is out that he is leaving he becomes a lame duck secretary—and lame ducks lose their clout very quickly.

Kingston News Report

By Mrs. Ruth Ann Holbrook
Phone 642-5662

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Knox, Kingston, are the parents of a 7-pound 2-ounce daughter born Friday at Chillicothe Hospital.

Frank Barnhart, son of Albert Barnhart, Route 2, Kingston, along with six other men from Ross County, recently reported to the Naval Base in Philadelphia for active duty assignments. All seven are members of the Naval Reserve Surface Division 4-7 (S), which is located in Chillicothe.

Thomas A. Nelson, Kingston, was admitted to Chillicothe Hospital, Friday for possible surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanton Robertson, Kingston, are the parents of a 5-pound 5-ounce daughter born last Monday at Chillicothe Hospital.

Gerald Williams, Route 1,

Kingston, was admitted Tuesday to Chillicothe Hospital as a medical patient.

Paul Sturgill and Fred Ritchart were in charge of the Thanksgiving assembly held Nov. 22, at the Zane Trace Junior High School.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Sunderland returned last Thursday from a week's vacation from the Smoky Mountains.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brooks recently visited Mr. and Mrs. Harley Schoolcraft in West Virginia.

Spec. 4 John S. Boggs, Ft. Bragg, N.C. recently spent three days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. Boggs, Kingston.

Miss Linda Stevens, Kingston, was admitted Thursday to Chillicothe Hospital as a medical patient.

Honor Students of the Month of the Seventh and Eighth grades at Zane Trace Junior High School are: Michele Conaway; Fred Chaffin; Brenda DeLong; and David Adkins.

Four representatives from Mead Research recently addressed a assembly of physics pupils and other interested teenagers at the Zane Trace High School.

Recent visitors of Mr. Roy Canter were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Immell and daughters from Georgia.

Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Holbrook were Mr. and Mrs. Eishmil Holbrook and family of Fort Wayne, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. Lundon Holbrook and sons spent Thursday evening in Circleville visiting Mrs. Hazel Cline and family.

Youth Is Given Life In Prison

CINCINNATI (AP)—Lonnie O. Miller, 18, Cincinnati, has been sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of a Corvair section butcher who was shot during a hold-up last April 28.

A Hamilton County Common Pleas Court jury convicted Miller Nov. 22 in the slaying of Gary Herman Renzenbrink, 27, but recommended mercy. Judge Fred L. Hoffman sentenced Miller Monday.

Police Arrest Alleged Slayer

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP)—Police have charged one man with murder in the death of Kenneth Ray Darnell, 21, and are seeking another man.

Darnell, of Mount Orab, Ohio, was shot Saturday night while sitting in his car at a Newport street corner. He died Sunday. That night police arrested Billy Ray Johnston 21, who gave addresses in Covington, Ky., and St. Bernard, Ohio.

Red China Is Kept Out Of U.N. Seat

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly voted decisively today to keep Red China out of the United Nations for another year.

The 122-nation assembly defeated by a vote of 58-45 a resolution by Communist Albania and 11 other nations that would have given the Chinese seat to Peking and expelled Nationalist China from the world forum. There were 17 abstentions.

It marked the 18th year that the United States and its supporters have turned back efforts by Communist and non-aligned nations to bring the Chinese Reds into the United Nations.

The Communists fell short of even a simple majority in today's bid. But earlier the assembly had approved by a vote of 69-48 with 4 abstentions a resolution by the United States and 14 other nations reaffirming that a two-thirds majority was needed to change China's U.N. representation.

PARCEL 3:

Situated in the County of Pickaway, in the State of Ohio and in the City of Circleville, and bounded and described as follows:

Being lot number seventeen hundred fifty two (1752) in J. R. Baumes First Addition to the said City of Circleville, Ohio, and being the same premises which were conveyed to Thurman D. Ramsey by deed dated April 14, 1925 and recorded in Volume 104, page 618 of the Deed Records of Pickaway County, Ohio.

Being also the same premises conveyed to William C. Truex and Minnie A. Truex by Thurman D. Ramsey and Emma Ramsey by deed dated July 11, 1930, and recorded in Pickaway County, Ohio Deed Records, Volume 112 at page 236.

Said premises being also known as No. 158 Hayward Avenue in said City of Circleville, Ohio.

PARCEL 4:

Situated in the County of Pickaway, in the State of Ohio and in the City of Circleville, and bounded and described as follows:

Being lots numbers seventeen hundred twenty three (1723), seventeen hundred twenty four (1724) and seventeen hundred twenty five (1725) in J. R. Baumes First Addition to said City of Circleville, Ohio.

Being also the same premises conveyed to William C. Truex and Minnie A. Truex by James Tool, a widower, by deed dated May 21, 1929, and recorded in Pickaway County, Ohio deed records, Volume 110 at page 119.

Said premises being also known as No. 130 York Street in said City of Circleville, Ohio.

Parcel 3 above described is appraised at $4000.00, and Parcel 4 above described is appraised at $6000.00. Said two parcels of land will be sold separately, and must each be sold for not less than two-thirds of said appraised value, and the terms of sale are ten per cent of the purchase price in cash upon day of sale and the balance in full upon execution and delivery of deed on or before thirty days after day of sale.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Peeping Tom Wants To Make Friends

DEAR ABBY: I just found out I'm a Peeping Tom. I know it sounds terrible, but I'm really not that kind of a guy. It all happened accidentally last week when I moved into an upstairs apartment overlooking a narrow courtyard. A gorgeous young woman lives directly across from me, as I learned the very first night when she got undressed and left her shade up.

I felt very sneaky about watching her, but I was fascinated. She left all the lights on, her window shades up and she even did her exercises in front of the window.

Don't tell me I can remove temptation by pulling my shades down. I know that, but I am only human, and she is some dish. I saw this show again last night and to tell you the truth, I would like to meet this young lady and know her better. Any suggestions?

DEAR TOM: Yes, introduce yourself to her before you ruin your eyes with eyestrain. As a neighborly gesture you can knock on her door and ask to borrow something. (A cup of sugar—NOT a pair of binoculars.) If she turns out to be as nice as she appears to be in the flesh, in due time, wise her up about the show she's been putting on for the neighbors. And unless she is some kind of exhibitionist, she'll appreciate it.

DEAR ABBY: The letter signed "HELEN," complaining because her boss's favorite subject was SEX, has created a problem in our office. My name happens to be Helen, and the description of that boss fits my supervisor to a "T," but I didn't write the letter.

This morning I found your column on my desk. Underscored in red was your advice, "If he is your boss, there are other jobs."

In the past, I have shown my displeasure by ignoring all his sexy talk and off-color remarks, but what do I do now HELEN IN HOUSTON

DEAR HELEN: For your boss's information, he is approximately 1600 miles off target. But you can tell him for me, "If the shoe fits—wear it," which should not be difficult, since he has already put his foot in it.

DEAR ABBY: A strange thing happened to me the other day. I had an appointment with my doctor, a man who is at least 20 years my senior. He has been my physician for many years. As I was about to leave his private inner office, he stopped me abruptly, took me in his arms and kissed me.

Abby, I was absolutely speechless. Then he quickly said, "How would you like to meet me somewhere?"

I can't even remember what I said after that, but I know I told him I just wanted to get out of there. He apologized profusely and assured me it would never happen again. That was all there was to it.

I was so upset, I confided in my sister. She told me to get another doctor fast. However I can't forget how kind he's been to me thruout the years. Besides, his behavior has

Saxbe To Cut I-75 Ribbon

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe will have the ribbon-cutting honors when Toledo opens an $8.7 million, 6.2-mile section of the Toledo Expressway—Interstate 75—at 8:30 a.m. Friday. The ceremonies will be held at the south end bridge.

The section lies between U.S. 20 in Wood County and Ohio 65 in Lucas County. The project, under construction for two years involved 14 bridge structures including interchanges at U. S. 20, Buck Road, Wales Road and Ohio 65.

Solons Set Frisco Trip

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Six state senators and eight representatives will attend the National Conference of State Legislative Leaders in San Francisco from Nov. 29 to Dec. 2.

House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess, R-4 Wood, said the Ohio group plans to leave Wednesday. Expenses will be paid from legislative appropriations, he said.

House members, in addition to Kurfess, are Reps. Frank R. Pokorny D-57 Cleveland, John C. McDonald D - 19 Licking, Lloyd George Kerns R-16 Union, James J. Flannery D-43 Cleveland, Gordon M. Scherer R-71 Cincinnati, Fred B. Hadley R-1 Defiance and Robert E. Levitt R-91 Stark.

Senators are Theodore M. Gray R-3 Miami, Senate Majority leader; Michael J. Maloney R-7 Cincinnati, Mar. H. Dennis R-10 Clinton, Robert R.

Dak To Battle One for U.S. Opinion?

By JOHN T. WHEELER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The largest and bloodiest sustained battle of the war around the highlands town of Dak To apparently was set off by the Communists more with an eye toward U.S. public opinion than for any long-range tactical advantage, a senior U.S. Command officer says.

The three-week battle cost 287 American lives and left 1,641 North Vietnamese dead on the battleground by U.S. count.

In surveying it the U.S. Command can find strong reasons for both optimism and pessimism.

The senior U.S. officer, discussing this and other recent battles, said the pattern tended to reinforce a theory long held by the U.S. Command:

Shaw R-16 Columbus, Anthony F. Novak D-23 Cleveland and Charles J. Carney D-3 Youngstown.

The Communists long ago decided they could not grab and hold strategic real estate in the face of American firepower and mobility. Their main objective then became to kill as many Americans as possible in steadily bigger battles. They hope to stir further antiwar sentiment

Gold Bullion Being Shipped

FT. KNOX, Ky. (AP) — Four trucks reportedly carrying gold bullion left the Federal Depository today under heavy guard. The vehicles were accompanied by four truckloads of troops and two cars carrying Treasury Department agents.

Officials at the depository declined to confirm reports that the shipment was destined for the eastern United States.

A spokesman said the depository periodically makes shipments; that the Treasury doesn't reveal the value, time of departure or destination.

In the United States and win through a collapse of will on the American home front, U.S. officials believe.

In recent months the Communists, picking the time and place for the big battles, have emphasized border areas where their supply lines are shortest and escape to sanctuaries in Cambodia and Laos is easy.

The big battles pull American battalions away from pacification areas to meet such major threats. Months of pacification work can be rolled back overnight if the Viet Cong are able to strike at points weakened by such troop drains.

There is also speculation at top U.S. Command levels that the Communists are experimenting with new infantry tactics built around such heavy weapons as large rockets and mortars.

Officers discount a theory that the Communists wanted to take and hold Dak To or other small towns around which recent big battles have been fought.

Lt. Gen. William Rosson, U.S. commander in the highlands, when asked about the enemy's intention there said: "If the enemy could have seized the airfield and the town and held them even two, three or four days it would have been a very high-powered propaganda victory which he has not had for a year and a half."

"It would have had impact victory value."

These hills lack long-term strategic value. If Dak To follows the pattern of the Ia Drang Valley, Plei Me and Loc Ninh, neither side will be in the same area with a large force soon.

The battle itself was reason enough for the fight.

BUCKEYE PREMIUM STAMPS...
as American as the double feature
 There you are munching on popcorn and enjoying a cliff-hanging second feature at the movie house. And all you paid was the price of a single picture. It's the American way of doing business. Giving you something extra that doesn't cost you extra... like the second cup of coffee free, the prize in the Cracker Jack box and the free train ride for youngsters under twelve. That's the way it is with Buckeye Stamps. They're something extra you don't pay extra for... compliments of your neighborhood merchants. Shop where this traditionally American spirit prevails: at merchants who say, "The Buckeye Stamps are on us... not you!"

...an American Tradition

End of Year May Bring Credit Squeeze

WASHINGTON (AP) — Signs of a credit squeeze similar to the one last year that forced homebuilding into a tailspin are increasing—and both Johnson administration and industry officials insist only a tax increase can head it off.

Many of the symptoms match last year's and they began developing before the Federal Reserve Board raised the discount rate from 4 to 4½ per cent in reacting to devaluation of the British pound.

This is the rate charged by the Federal Reserve for money borrowed by commercial banks. Other interest rates are pegged upward from it.

But since then the government has reported other indications of tightening money, especially for mortgages.

January could be a key month for mortgage lenders and home-builders.

The end of the year also marks the end of a dividend period at savings and loan associations and institutions at that time could face a possible withdrawal of deposits for investments paying higher interest.

This trend last year led to sharp reductions in the growth of savings at S&Ls, the largest single source of home mortgage funds, and depressed home-building.

There have been these indications of tightening mortgage money the past few days:

—The Federal Home Loan Bank Board reported an increase in interest rates on conventional home loans to 6.38 per cent for new houses during October. It was the second straight monthly rise although still below the record 6.49 per cent of last December.

—The board also reported the smallest October gain in savings by S&Ls for that month since 1960, except for last year when deposits actually declined.

—Loan commitments by S&Ls—an indication of future home-building—are showing signs of slowing with such pledges down during September and October.

—The Federal National Mortgage Association reduced the price it will pay for mortgages it buys in its secondary market operations. This was done to conserve the agency's resources.

Kiesinger Ends Full Year In Bonn; Country Does Well

By PETER REHAK
Associated Press Writer

BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger's government is ending its first year in office with a record of political stability at home and apparent success in reviving the economy.

It has tried for a more independent foreign policy than its predecessors but has not come up with any easy solutions to Germany's basic problems, such as the East-West split and relations with the Soviet bloc.

Born of parliamentary crisis, the coalition of Kiesinger's

Christian Democrats and Willy Brandt's Social Democrats took office Dec. 1, 1966. It seems to have worked well enough for neither to want to break it up before the next federal election in 1969 but officials of both sides agree that a government made up of the two largest parties is not desirable on a long-term basis.

Critics of the coalition say it has left West Germany without an effective opposition in the Bundestag (Parliament) and thus has driven protest voters into the arms of radical parties of the left and right.

Those who praise the coalition say it brought stability when it was most needed—at the end of a political crisis and when the West German economic boom was leveling off.

Kiesinger's government set a course for a more relaxed policy toward Communist Eastern Europe, friendship with France and more independence of the United States than shown by the governments of Ludwig Erhard and Konrad Adenauer.

Attempts to get talks going with the Soviet Union on improving West German-Russian relations have not gotten off the ground.

The government has little to show for its declarations of friendship with France, Kiesinger.

Urge Pennsy-NYC Merger Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department and five eastern states have urged the Supreme Court to reject the appeals of rival railroads and approve the disputed merger of the Pennsylvania and New York Central Lines.

Attorneys for the Justice Department, which earlier had asked that the merger be delayed, said Monday the government no longer sees a need for further delay.

Pick 7 Counties For Health Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seven counties in Southeastern Ohio have been designated by the Appalachian Regional Commission as eligible for a $200,000 grant for planning health projects.

Besides the initial grant, the counties are eligible for $2 million to be used for specific projects to be approved by the commission.

The federal funds may be used to build hospitals, outpatient clinics, mental health clinics, extended care centers and to plan and acquire facilities.

The counties are Athens, Gallia, Hocking, Jackson, Lawrence, Meigs and Vinton.

40 Custodians End Walkout

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — About 40 custodians at six public housing projects of the Youngstown Metropolitan Housing Authority have ended a three-week strike that resulted in a pileup of rubbish and garbage.

Terms of the settlement were not disclosed, pending approval by the U.S. Department of Housing and Development. The strikers are members of Local 288 of the Public Employees Union.

DuPont Lists Transfer Of Engineer

C. W. HOWLE JR.

Charles W. Howle Jr., quality control supervisor at Du Pont's local "Mylar" plant, has been transferred to the sales division of the company's film department in Cleveland.

Howle started his DuPont career in June of 1953 as a shift chemist at Penns' Grove, N. J. He spent two years in the U.S. Army and following graduate work he returned to DuPont in May of 1960.

He held positions at the Circleville plant and in South Carolina prior to being reassigned to Circleville in July of 1965 in quality control.

He has a BS degree in chemical engineering from Clemson University in South Carolina as well as his master's degree in analytical engineering. He is a deacon, chairman of the finance committee and a teacher at the First Baptist Church.

Howle and his wife, Dorcas, have four children: Charles W. III, Robert, Sylvia and Susan. They reside at Route 3, Circleville.

Officer Infiltrates Schools, Finds Wide Use of Drugs

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — A rookie policeman told today how he infiltrated a group of marijuana-smoking high school students in an attempt to halt the peddling of narcotics to teen-agers.

Patrolman Glenn Boggs, 23, said he enrolled in a Corpus Christi high school, got himself kicked out twice for cutting classes and faked "getting high" on marijuana to win the youths' confidence.

He compiled a list of 200 teen-agers he said he observed smoking marijuana or taking pills. Thirteen persons, one an adult and the others under 21, have been charged as dealers suspected of selling to teen-agers as a result of his investigation. Police say they expect more arrests.

Of the 200 youngsters, Boggs said, the majority attended King High School, which he enrolled in, and nearby Delmar Junior College. The rest were other local teen-agers. King High has an enrollment of some 2,100.

Boggs said he spent two months and two weeks with the teen-age set.

"Boy, those people were real paranoid," the officer said in an interview. "The first buy I made, the peddler said 'hey, man, are you a narc?'" (Federal agent)? I replied yeah, man, I am—twice on Sundays and every day of the week.

"That's the way most of them were—suspicious of everything, but they would always make the sale."

He attended marijuana parties and faked smoking by sucking around his fingers, breathing deep and cupping his hands, he related. Sometimes he slept on a nearby island with the teen-agers or at their parents' homes.

"Some of those kids have all the money in the world," Boggs said. "They were just hanging around the marijuana because it's some kind of a status symbol. They aren't hippies."

"This (marijuana) is their life. People can say it's not addictive or bad for you, but every one of them I've known and dealt with—well that's all they think and talk about."

He said the students made trips to buy marijuana in Mexico and sold it for $4 to $6 for a matchbox of the stuff or 50 cents for a cigarette-style smoke.

Boggs said marijuana was a

"24-hour a-day deal with them," and they even smoked it in the restrooms at school.

Boggs said most of the teen-agers would not sell marijuana for a profit but supplied their friends in an attempt to gain status.

"They just wanted to turn everybody on," he said. "They want to turn the world on."

His masquerade came to an end when he ran into old Navy buddy who told the teen-agers Boggs was a policeman.

Christmas Tree Ready for LBJ

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP) — President Johnson's personal Christmas tree will be cut and shipped Dec. 7 from the Portage County farm of tree grower Howard M. Cowan in Ravenna Township.

The tree, a 20-foot blue spruce, is destined for the Blue Room at the White House.

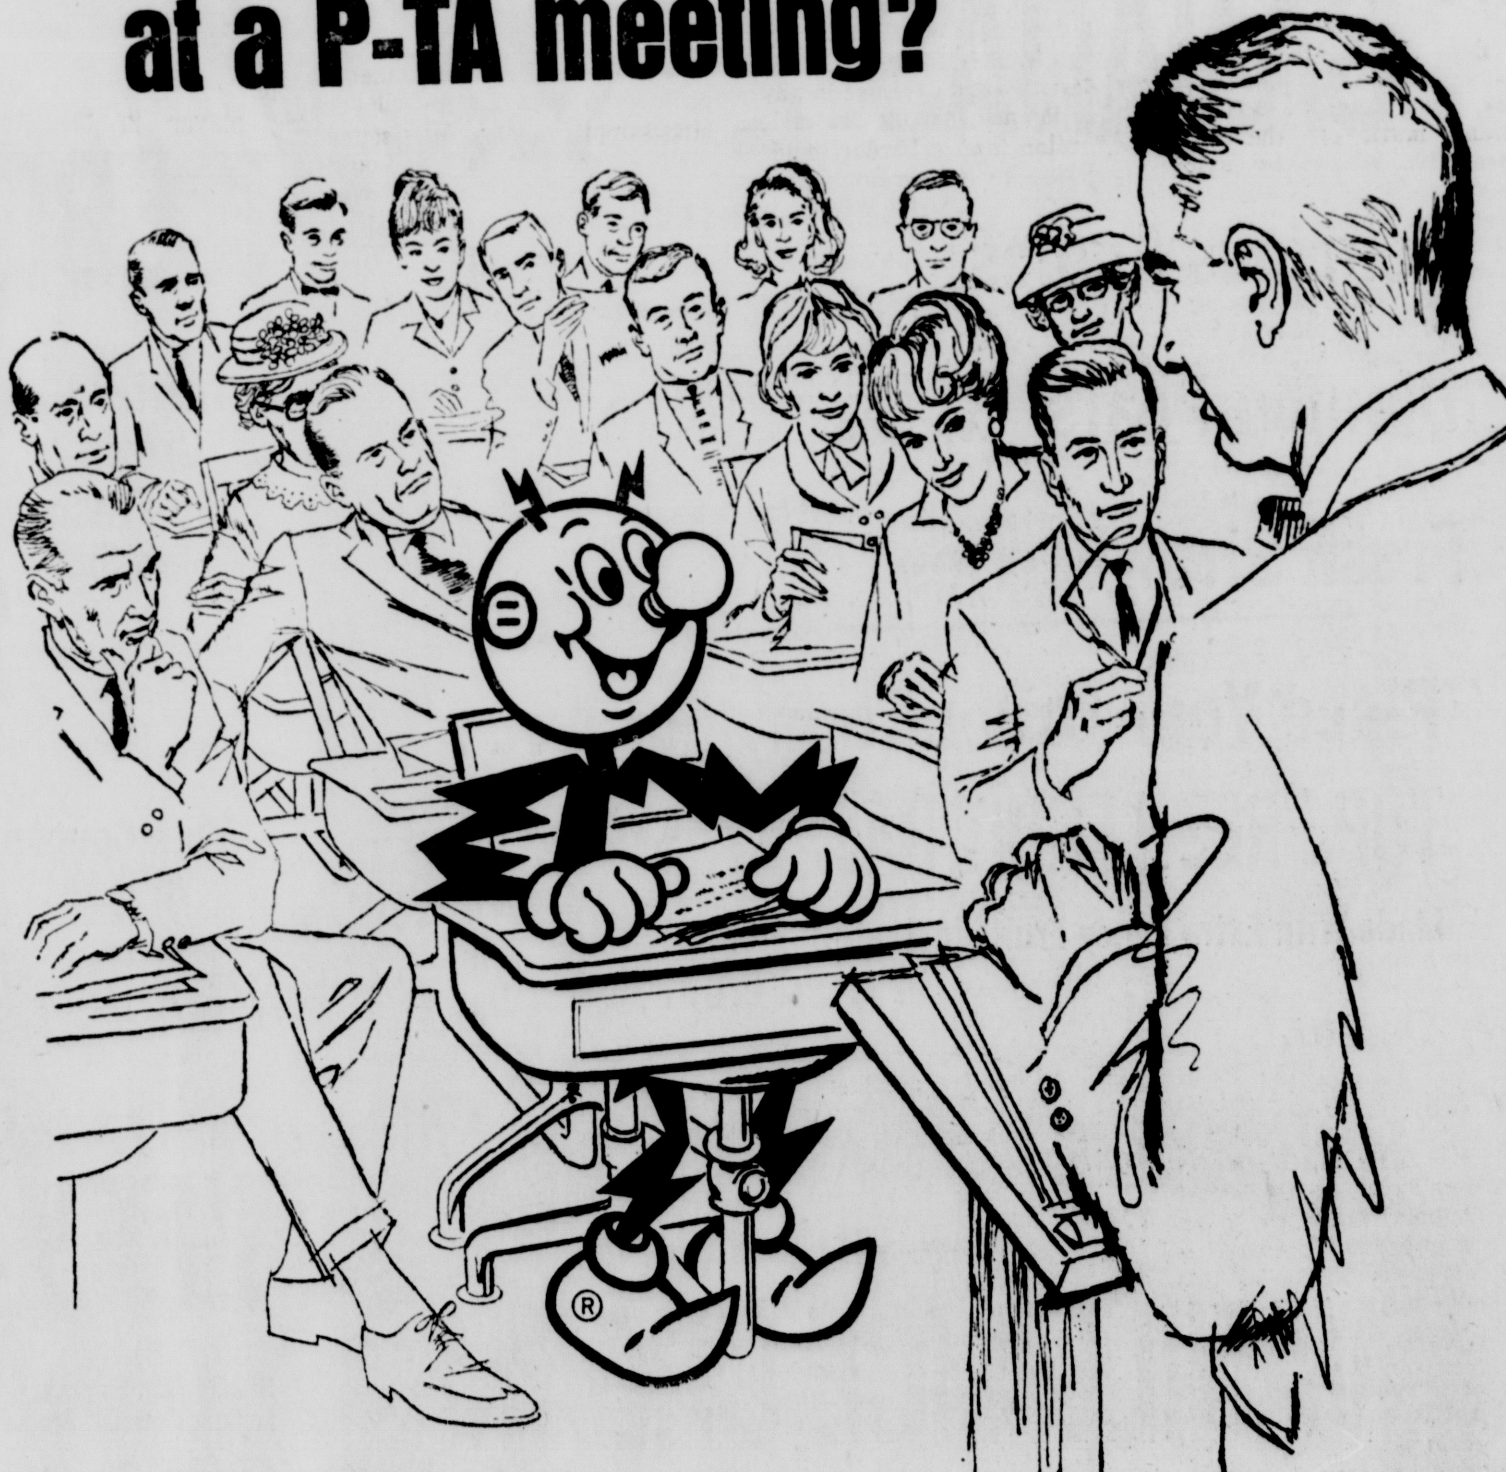

Ohio won the right to furnish the tree in national competition among tree growers in August, the Ohio Christmas Tree Growers, Inc., said today. Twenty-six states competed.

Reddy Kilowatt... What are you doing at a P-TA meeting?

Why not? The electric companies have been education-minded for years!

Reddy's right. Ohio's investor-owned electric light and power companies take an active part in helping young people in their communities. Each of us has favored projects toward this end. Among them are scholarships, a wide variety of teaching aids and, in some cases, ranges and other appliances for home economic classes.

Students with scientific promise are sent to the National Conference on the Atom. Support is given Junior Achievement, 4H Clubs, science fairs and Future Farmers of America.

And, in addition to these activities, $48,000,000 we paid in local property taxes alone helped support Ohio schools in '66.

Yes, Reddy. When it comes to education, we like to be there... helping where we can.

Soon after coming to power Kiesinger made it clear to the United States that Bonn could no longer buy enough U.S. arms to offset fully America's foreign exchange costs of stationing U.S. troops in Germany. He also refused to make a 100 per cent offset agreement with Britain.

As a result, 35,000 of the 250,000 American troops will be withdrawn next year as well as 5,000 of 59,000 in the British Army of the Rhine.

Vikings, Braves Begin Loop Play In Friday Tilts

Both Teays Valley and Logan Elm open their respective league seasons Friday.

The Vikings host Hamilton Twp. in a Metropolitan game while the Braves travel to Paint Valley in the Scioto Valley Conference.

Although the Vikings are hurt by a lack of size this year, they showed a balanced scoring attack in the first game with Columbus North.

Bruce Reese, Walt Newman, Mike Lombardo and Rex Gregg all scored over 15 points in the initial game.

NONE of those four stands over 6-foot tall. Although short, Coach Russ Gregg feels his team has the personnel to win the Metro League.

Hamilton is an "unknown quantity" to Gregg. The Viking foe has not yet played a game and the TV coach has no scouting report on them.

Most of their players of last year are gone, but a couple of candidates who could help the squad considerably have moved into the district according to reports.

One of their better players is expected to be Gary Topping, 6-2, an All-League halfback this fall.

Logan Elm, dfending co-champion of the SVC, will be going for its second win of the season at Paint Valley.

The Braves will have a decided size advantage in the game with 6-7 center Royce Weolever in the lineup.

THE tallest player on the Bearcats' roster is 6-3 Dave Hammond, a junior center candidate.

The only returning starter on the Paint Valley Squad is 6-1 Mike Kinnamon, a senior guard. The only other letterman back from last year's team is Bob Patterson, a 6-1 center.

On Saturday Westfall meets Teays Valley on the Vikings' floor in an intra-county battle.

Rockets Win Over Oaks, 126-108

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bob Bass knows what to do when a league record is within reach.

Bass is coach of the Denver Rockets in the American Basketball Association. In the last two minutes of Tuesday night's game against the Oakland Oaks, he told his players to feed Larry Jones since Jones had an opportunity to set an ABA single game scoring record.

Jones went on to tally 52 points as the Rockets won 126-108 for their third straight triumph at home. Jones broke the previous record of 49 set by LaVern Tart of Oakland with a layup 25 seconds from the final whistle. He got his final basket with eight seconds on the clock.

Tart, still the ABA's leading scorer, was high for the Oaks as he saw his record erased from the book.

Jackie Moreland broke loose for eight points in the last four minutes to spark New Orleans to a 106-99 home victory over Pittsburgh. Anaheim won on the road, beating the New Jersey Americans 110-104 in the other scheduled ABA game.

Nance Leads AFL Rushing

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Nance, Boston's bulldozing full-back, went over the 1,000-yard rushing mark for the second consecutive season by gaining 109 yards Sunday, statistics released by the American Football League revealed today.

Nance has a total of 1,017 yards, 200 ahead of runner-up Mike Garrett of Kansas City. Nance carried for 1,438 yards last season.

Len Dawson, Kansas City Chiefs' quarterback, remained at the top of the passers with a 58.4 completion mark. He has completed 167 of 286 passes for 2,225 yards and 19 touchdowns.

Daryl Lamonica leads the league in TD passes with 21 while Joe Namath of the New York Jets has thrown for the most yardage, 2,869 yards.

Don Maynard, Jets, and Hewitt Dixon, Oakland are tied for the lead in pass receptions with 50 apiece.

In scoring Jan Stenerud, Chiefs' place kicker, has taken the scoring lead over Gino Cappelletti with 86 points. Cappelletti, of the Boston Patriots, is one point behind.

76ers Defeat Knicks, 110-108

By ED SCHUYLER JR.

Associated Press Sports Writer

Philadelphia Coach Alex Hannum was impressed by the New York Knickerbockers, but unfortunately for the Knicks Hannum's 76ers were impressive too.

The Knicks did get top efforts from Dick Barnett, Emette Bryant and Walt Bellamy, but they weren't quite good enough and the 76ers carried off a 110-108 victory at New York.

In other NBA action, the Boston Celtics rallied to beat the Detroit Pistons 118-111, the Seattle SuperSonics edged the Chicago Bulls 111-108, the San Francisco Warriors topped the Baltimore Bullets 117-110 and the Los Angeles Lakers trounced the St. Louis Hawks 134-117.

The Mustangs will pit their size, experience and defensive ability against the Vikings' balanced scoring.

Starters for Coach Paul Hoskins squad include seniors Andy Hamman, Charles Palmer, and Denny Fletcher, juniors Ed Cornwell and Tony Lightle.

Hoskins also has good depth with Charles and Ronnie Ward, Gene Carfrey and Bob Barnes on the bench.

The cage contest is the first in the fight for the mythical county cage championship.

Final Grid Game Picks Are Made

NEW YORK (AP) — Oh it's a short, short time from September to December and the days grow short for making college football selections.

In fact, the abbreviated schedule this Saturday is the last of the regular season.

Last week's average was .630; the season mark is .727.

This week's picks, all games Saturday:

Army over Navy: The Cadets balanced attack will offset the Middles' fine passing combination of John Cartwright to Rob Taylor. It should be close, though.

Alabama over Auburn: The Tide will roll in a warmup for the Cotton Bowl.

Miami, Fla. over Florida: The Hurricanes will bounce back from their setback by Notre Dame.

Tennessee over Vanderbilt: The Volunteers will pile it up at the expense of the Commodores while prepping for the Orange Bowl.

Oklahoma over Oklahoma State: The Sooners, also named to the Orange Bowl, are two-touchdown choices. It will probably be closer.

Skippping over the others: Holy Cross over Boston College; Mississippi over Mississippi State; Rice over Baylor; Louisville over Tulsa; Utah over Hawaii; Southern Methodist over Texas Christian.

Dodgers Trade Perranoski, Roseboro, Miller to Twins

By JACK HAND

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Minnesota has grabbed a No. 1 catcher in John Roseboro and bullpen strength in Ron Perranoski and Bob Miller in a major player deal that gave the Los Angeles Dodgers a former most valuable player and regular shortstop in Voilo Versalles and an ex-21-game winner in Mudcat Grant.

The five-player swap Tuesday night was so startling to the Dodgers' Don Drysdale, arriving for a player representatives meeting, that he asked a reporter to repeat it several times before he would believe the news.

Minnesota thinks it has solidified its bid for the 1968 American League pennant by bolstering its relief pitching with a proven lefty-righty combination in 30-year-old Perranoski and 28-year-old Miller.

Hurting for a top receiver after the retirement of Earl Battey, the Twins believe they have found the man for at least one year in 34-year-old Roseboro, who hit .273 last season. Perranoski was 6-7 and Miller 2-9 for the Dodgers in 1967.

The Dodgers, desperate for a shortstop after trading Maury Wills to Pittsburgh a year ago, count on Versalles, most valuable player in the American League in 1965, but a .200 hitter last season, to fill the job that was too much for Gene Michael last season.

Grant, of course, could be a big man in the starting rotation if the 32-year-old right-hander could come back from a 5-6 year to ttha 21-7 season in the pennant-winning season of 1965 when he beat the Dodgers twice in the World Series.

Despite Castro's Speech, Baseball Picks Made Calmly

By CHARLES GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Fidel Castro would have been disappointed.

Castro made a speech over radio Havana Monday night criticizing the men gathered in Mexico City for the 66th winter baseball meetings. Some of baseball's most important trades, and the annual player drafts, are made at these meetings.

The Cuban Prime minister said it was immoral for baseball men "to buy and sell players as if they were buying Christians to feed to the lions."

The annual player draft Tuesday — in which $936,000 changed hands for the contracts of 72 minor league players — was handled with calm dispatch. Some of the players might feel as if they've been fed to the lions, but most are anxious for an opportunity to play for any major league team which will give them a chance.

Fourteen major league clubs bought the contracts of 23 minor league players for $524,000. Class AAA and AA minor league teams bought the contracts of 49 players for $412,000.

Some familiar names were among those drafted — veteran infielder Chuck Hiller, outfielders Sandy Valdespino, Andy Kosco and George Spriggs and pitcher Joe Moeller. But better-known names such as Dick Radatz, Bo Belinsky, Willie Kirkland and Ed Charles were passed over.

Only three of these selected by the majors were first-year men whose contracts brought the $8,000 minimum. The rest went for $25,000.

Minor league teams concentrated on pitchers, drafting a total of 26 hurlers including eight southpaws. They also took eight catchers, 12 infielders of all positions and a pair of outfielders.

Alrod Endricks, a 27-year-old catcher from the Virgin Islands who hit 41 home runs, batted in 112 runs and hit .316 with Jallisco of the Class AAA Mexican League last season, went to Baltimore.

The Chicago Cubs and Houston Astros took three players each while the Yankees, Mets, Atlanta Braves and Minnesota Twins took two each. Oakland, Cleveland, Los Angeles, Washington, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and Boston took one each while the rest of the major league teams passed.

Vikings, Braves Begin Loop Play In Friday Tilts

Both Teays Valley and Logan Elm open their respective league seasons Friday.

The Vikings host Hamilton Twp. in a Metropolitan game while the Braves travel to Paint Valley in the Scioto Valley Conference.

Although the Vikings are hurt by a lack of size this year, they showed a balanced scoring attack in the first game with Columbus North.

Bruce Reese, Walt Newman, Mike Lombardo and Rex Gregg all scored over 15 points in the initial game.

NONE of those four stands over 6-feet tall. Although short, Coach Russ Gregg feels his team has the personnel to win the Metro League.

Hamilton is an "unknown quantity" to Gregg. The Viking foe has not yet played a game and the TV coach has no scouting report on them.

Most of their players of last year are gone, but a couple of candidates who could help the squad considerably have moved into the district according to reports.

One of their better players is expected to be Gary Topping, 6-2, an All-League halfback this fall.

Logan Elm, defending co-champion of the SVC, will be going for its second win of the season at Paint Valley.

The Braves will have a decided size advantage in the game with 6-7 center Royce Weolever in the lineup.

The tallest player on the Bearcats' roster is 6-3 Dave Hammond, a junior center candidate.

The only returning starter on the Paint Valley Squad is 6-1 Mike Kinnaman, a senior guard. The only other letterman back from last year's team is Bob Patterson, a 6-1 center.

On Saturday Westfall meets Teays Valley on the Vikings' floor in an intra-county battle.

Nance Leads AFL Rushing

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Nance, Boston's bulldozing fullback, went over the 1,000-yard rushing mark for the second consecutive season by gaining 109 yards Sunday, statistics released by the American Football League revealed today.

Nance has a total of 1,017 yards, 200 ahead of runner-up Mike Garrett of Kansas City. Nance carried for 1,458 yards last season.

Len Dawson, Kansas City Chiefs' quarterback, remained at the top of the passers with a 58.4 completion mark. He has completed 167 of 286 passes for 2,225 yards and 19 touchdowns.

Daryl Lamonia leads the league in TD passes with 21 while Joe Namath of the New York Jets has thrown for the most yardage, 2,869 yards.

Don Maynard, Jets, and Hewitt Dixon, Oakland, are tied for the lead in pass receptions with 50 apiece.

In scoring Jan Stenerud, Chiefs' place kicker, has taken the scoring lead over Gino Cappelletti with 86 points. Cappelletti, of the Boston Patriots, is one point behind.

76ers Defeat Knicks, 110-108

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
Philadelphia Coach Alex Hannum was impressed by the New York Knickerbockers, but unfortunately for the Knicks Hannum's 76ers were impressive too.

The Knicks did get top efforts from Dick Barnett, Emette Bryant and Walt Bellamy, but they weren't quite good enough and the 76ers carried off a 110-108 victory at New York.

In other NBA action, the Boston Celtics rallied to beat the Detroit Pistons 118-111, the Seattle SuperSonics edged the Chicago Bulls 111-108, the San Francisco Warriors topped the Baltimore Bullets 117-110 and the Los Angeles Lakers trounced the St. Louis Hawks 134-117.

The Mustangs will pit their size, experience and defensive ability against the Vikings' balanced scoring.

Starters for Coach Paul Hoskins squad include seniors Andy Hamman, Charles Palmer, and Denny Fletcher, juniors Ed Cornwell and Tony Lightle.

Hoskins also has good depth with Charles and Ronnie Ward, Gene Carfrey and Bob Barnes on the bench.

The cage contest is the first in the fight for the mythical county cage championship.

Rockets Win Over Oaks, 126-108

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Bob Bass knows what to do when a league record is within reach.

Bass is coach of the Denver Rockets in the American Basketball Association. In the last two minutes of Tuesday night's game against the Oakland Oaks, he told his players to feed Larry Jones since Jones had an opportunity to set an ABA single game scoring record.

Jones went on to tally 52 points as the Rockets won 126-108 for their third straight triumph at home. Jones broke the previous record of 49 set by LaVern Tart of Oakland with a layup 25 seconds from the final whistle. He got his final basket with eight seconds on the clock.

Tart, still the ABA's leading scorer, was high for the Oaks as he saw his record erased from the book.

Jackie Moreland broke loose for eight points in the last four minutes to spark New Orleans to a 106-99 home victory over Pittsburgh. Anaheim won on the road, beating the New Jersey Americans 110-104 in the other scheduled ABA game.

Hope Small For NCAA, AAU Accord

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Amateur Athletic Union moguls are pessimistic about a settlement of the feud with the National Collegiate Athletic Association over track and field in this country.

But the big brass of the AAU, which is holding its 80th annual convention here, don't want to conjecture about the effect the dispute will have on the U.S. track team for the 1968 Olympics at Mexico City.

"We can't make heads or tails of the issue," said AAU President David Matlin.

"And if I don't know the issues, the only inference I can get is they (the NCAA) are out to destroy the AAU," added Matlin. "I don't know what they want but if they want to destroy the AAU, then they are off their rocker."

AAU Executive Director Donald F. Hull told a news conference Tuesday that the NCAA "has a large smokescreen out." "It's a bold power grab," he added, "but they've got smoke around it."

Matlin said the dispute will be discussed at the meeting here, which runs through Sunday, "but all we can do is talk about it."

The federal government has established a sports arbitration committee to air the problem. Both Matlin and Hull said they felt the NCAA and its U.S. Track and Field Federation would not abide by the committee's decision.

"No, we are not bitter," said Matlin, in reply to a question. "We are disappointed. We don't think that the attitude of the NCAA officials is inductive to settling this thing."

Matlin said he'd like to sit down personally with NCAA President Marcus Plant and talk over the dispute.

It's Official: Beban Wins Heisman

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The name of Gary Joseph Beban, quarterback, UCLA, was duly registered today as the 1967 Heisman Memorial Trophy winner, so selected by 1,033 writers and broadcasters as the outstanding college football player of the year.

Beban, a senior, accepted the award in typical Beban fashion. He was pleased, naturally. He was also modest, generous in wishing he could share it with his teammates and he was just as poised about the whole thing as he had been in leading UCLA to national prominence during his three years at Bruinville.

Tommy Prothro, his coach, was equally delighted. It was the second Heisman Trophy winner he has coached. Terry Baker at Oregon State in 1962 was the other.

There was a slight difference in reaction by coach and player.

Gary called his folks in Redwood City, Calif., his girl friend, unidentified and location not divulged, and his faculty adviser to see how his grades were stacking up. He's a B average student majoring in history.

Prothro from his office at UCLA started to call his wife to tell her the good news. Suddenly he stopped and confessed, "I'm real upset, I can't even remember my own home phone number."

Beban won the Heisman over formidable opposition. He polled 369 first place votes for 1,568 points. His closest challengers were halfback O.J. Simpson of the University of Southern California with 261 first place votes and 1,772 points, and Lefoy Keyes, Purdue, 278 first and 1,366 points.

Beban, at a packed news conference in the Regents Room on campus, was asked the familiar questions.

High and low points of his career
"The high points were beating USC and winning the Rose Bowl over Michigan State as a sophomore. Then going 9-1 as a junior. The low points that's easy. The loss to USC two weeks ago and then to Syracuse last Saturday."

Beban, to no one's surprise, said he is contemplating a professional career. Football, he explained, has been a vital part of his young life. But he side-stepped such matters as preference of a team or league.

The Heisman award was originated in 1935 in memory of John W. Heisman, former director of athletics at the Downtown Athletic Club of New York, the organization which conducts the poll.

Beban will accept the award Dec. 7 at the Downtown Athletic Club.

Toledo Has Hope Of Continuing Cage Prominence

By HAL PARIS

Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) —

Toledo, basking in the glory of its finest football season ever, hopes to continue its successful basketball surge of a year ago.

Coach Bobby Nichols, last season's Mid-American Conference Coach of the Year, is sitting pretty. The Rockets are loaded again with four returning regulars and a host of good-looking rookies.

But matching last year's spectacular 23-1 regular season record and copping another MAC title won't be easy.

For one thing, potent Marshall, with everyone back from last year's outstanding club, has championship aspirations of its own.

For another the league has more balance than a year ago and Miami, in particular, should be more menacing.

One slip could be fatal when you consider that the Rockets, despite losing only one game, edged Marshall for the MAC crown by a slim game.

MAC cage coaches were here Tuesday to preview the season and Nichols gave some hint of what to expect when he said: "We won seven close games last year that could have gone either way."

His chief task appears to be replacing the departed Bill Backensto, Toledo's top defensive performer and easily the team leader.

Western Michigan Coach Sonny Means was the only MAC mentor willing to go out on the limb and pick a champion.

"I like Marshall. Toledo will miss Backensto... he was the glue that held them together."

Four of last season's all-season league selections return adding spice to the conference race.

They are Steve Mix of Toledo, Miami's Fred Foster, and George Stone and Bob Redd of Marshall.

The Rockets are fast, shoot well and have a strong bench headed by veteran Don White and sophomores Doug Hess and Jim Miller.

Hess is the seven-footer expected to spell Mix, and Miller could earn a starting role before the season is very old.

Marshall Coach Ellis Johnson

counts on speed and great shooting from the same combo that won 11 of its last 12.

Stone and Redd are amply supported by Bob Allen, a strong rebounder, and two solid guards in Jim Davidson and Dan D'Antoni.

Coach Tate Locke figures his Miami squad has quickness and depth and also boasts Foster, one of the league's top shooters.

Bill Fitch, new coach at Bowling Green, has 6-8 Walt Piatkowski, a prolific scorer, and a veteran cast to make things uncomfortable for the others.

Soph help should boost Western into the picture. Versatile Reggie Laceyfield is the best of the returnees and Gene Ford adds scoring punch.

Ohio University Coach Jim Snyder feels his Bobcats will suffer under the boards with the graduation of John Schroeder. Top scorer Gerry McKee is back and soph John Canine could supply scoring punch.

Frank Truitt has the difficult job of molding Kent State into a winner. "We'll be trying to reach respectability," he said.

The Golden Flashes' top returnee is junior Doug Grayson but junior college transfers and sophs could help.

O. J. Simpson Leads Statistics

NEW YORK (AP) — O. J. Simpson of Southern California, runner-up to UCLA's Gary Beban in the voting for the Heisman Award, continued to lead in college football rushing, the weekly major college statistics showed today.

In 10 games, Simpson has rushed for 1,415 yards on 266 carries, the figures from the National Collegiate Sports Services showed.

Sal Olivas of New Mexico State leads in total offense with 2,184 yards in 10 games on 363 plays. Terry Stone of New Mexico leads in forward passing with 1,946 yards on 160 completions in 336 attempts.

Phil Odle of Brigham Young tops the pass receivers with 77.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — At one point toward the end of Tuesday night's NBC special, showing a football game played last summer, actor James Garner walked into camera range. This led Jerry Lewis, an off-camera voice who had introduced himself as "the Jewish Joe Garagla," to remark:

"Jim Garner reminds me of that old adage—whether you get on base or not, peanut butter will still stick to the roof of your mouth."

The sight of Garner and a lot of other theater and sports celebrities clowning on a baseball diamond did not remind this viewer of any other old adages. It did make one wonder who thought the game was a winter TV special and how NBC was persuaded to go along with the scheme.

The program, billed as the first annual all-star celebrity softball game, had Vin Scully, a professional announcer, calling the plays as if it were the World Series. Lewis tried to be funny and just sounded smart. An enormous assortment of comedians and professional baseball players hammed it up for an hour.

At the end, Scully called it "the most forgettable game of the year," and it is devoutly to be hoped that the first annual all-star celebrity softball game will also be the last—on television, anyway.

A pair of senior citizens and warriors, Dwight D. Eisenhower and Omar Bradley, discussed the conflict in Vietnam with Harry Reasoner for an all too short 30 minutes on CBS Tuesday night.

Former President Eisenhower observed almost tartly that he did not think anyone who is not "living this war" is in a position to criticize the way it is being handled.

Gen. Bradley, agreeing there was considerable confusion at home over Vietnam, said he thought that it also included "some generals."

Bradley, recently returned from an inspection tour of the fighting areas, defended the bombing of North Vietnam. He said that it was nailing down an estimated half-million North Vietnamese defending the country and cleaning up after attacks—personnel who otherwise would be free to fight, and that it also was interfering with shipments of supplies.

The conversation was taped last week at the Eisenhower home in Gettysburg. It was of great interest to hear two eminent soldiers discuss a situation full of heat in unemotional tones. It could have gone on for at least another half hour to the benefit of some of the confused Americans at home, including this one.

Recommended tonight: "Bob Hope Show," NBC, 9-10 EST, collegiate comedy with David Janssen, Jack Jones and Elke Sommer.

Toledo Has Hope Of Continuing Cage Prominence

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Toledo, basking in the glory of its finest football season ever, hopes to continue its successful basketball surge of a year ago.

Coach Bobby Nichols, last season's Mid-American Conference Coach of the Year, is sitting pretty. The Rockets are loaded again with four returning regulars and a host of good-looking rookies.

But matching last year's spectacular 23-1 regular season record and copping another MAC title won't be easy.

For one thing, potent Marshall, with everyone back from last year's outstanding club, has championship aspirations of its own.

For another the league has more balance than a year ago and Miami, in particular, should be more menacing.

One slip could be fatal when you consider that the Rockets, despite losing only one game, edged Marshall for the MAC crown by a slim game.

MAC cage coaches were here Tuesday to preview the season and Nichols gave some hint of what to expect when he said: "We won seven close games last year that could have gone either way."

His chief task appears to be replacing the departed Bill Backensto, Toledo's top defensive performer and easily the team leader.

Western Michigan Coach Sonny Means was the only MAC mentor willing to go out on the limb and pick a champion.

"I like Marshall. Toledo will miss Backensto... he was the glue that held them together."

Four of last season's all-season league selections return adding spice to the conference race.

They are Steve Mix of Toledo, Miami's Fred Foster, and George Stone and Bob Redd of Marshall.

The Rockets are fast, shoot well and have a strong punch headed by veteran Don White and sophomores Doug Hess and Jim Miller.

Hess is the seven-footer expected to spell Mix, and Miller could earn a starting role before the season is very old.

Marshall Coach Ellis Johnson

counts on speed and great shooting from the same combo that won 11 of its last 12.

Stone and Redd are amply supported by Bob Allen, a strong rebounder, and two solid guards in Jim Davidson and Dan D'Antoni.

Coach Bates Locke figures his Miami squad has quickness and depth and also boasts Foster, one of the league's top shooters.

Bill Fitch, new coach at Bowling Green, has 6-8 Walt Piatkowski, a prolific scorer, and a veteran cast to make things uncomfortable for the others.

Soph help should boost Western into the picture. Versatile Reggie Laceyfield is the best of the returnees and Gene Ford adds scoring punch.

Ohio University Coach Jim Snyder feels his Bobcats will suffer under the boards with the graduation of John Schroeder. Top scorer Gerry McKee is back and soph John Canine could supply scoring punch.

Frank Truitt has the difficult job of molding Kent State into a winner. "We'll be trying to reach respectability," he said.

The Golden Flashes' top returnee is junior Doug Grayson but junior college transfers and sophs could help.

O. J. Simpson Leads Statistics

NEW YORK (AP) — O. J. Simpson of Southern California, runner-up to UCLA's Gary Beban in the voting for the Heisman Award, continued to lead in college football rushing, the weekly major college statistics showed today.

In 10 games, Simpson has rushed for 1,415 yards on 266 carries, the figures from the National Collegiate Sports Services showed.

Sal Olivas of New Mexico State leads in total offense with 2,184 yards in 10 games on 363 plays. Terry Stone of New Mexico leads in forward passing with 1,946 yards on 160 completions in 336 attempts.

Phil Odle of Brigham Young tops the pass receivers with 77.

NEW YORK (AP) — At one point toward the end of Tuesday night's NBC special, showing a softball game played last summer, actor James Garner walked into camera range. This led Jerry Lewis, an off-camera voice who had introduced himself as "the Jewish Joe Garagi-la," to remark:

"Jim Garner reminds me of that old adage—whether you get on base or not, peanut butter will still stick to the roof of your mouth."

Former President Eisenhower observed almost tartly that he did not think anyone who is "living this war" is in a position to criticize the way it is being handled.

Gen. Bradley, agreeing there was considerable confusion at home over Vietnam, said he thought that it also included "some generals."

Bradley, recently returned from an inspection tour of the fighting areas, defended the bombing of North Vietnam. He said that it was nothing done an estimated half-million North Vietnamese defending the country and cleaning up after attacks—personnel who otherwise would be free to fight, and that it also was interfering with shipments of supplies.

The conversation was taped last week at the Eisenhower home in Gettysburg. It was of great interest to hear two eminent soldiers discuss a situation full of heat in emotional tones. It could have gone on for at least another half hour to the benefit of some of the confused Americans at home, including this one.

Recommended tonight: "Bob Hope Show," NBC, 9-10 EST, collegiate comedy with David Janssen, Jack Jones and Elke Sommer.

At the end, Scully called it "the most forgettable game of the year," and it is devoted to be hoped that the first annual all-star celebrity softball game will also be the last—on television, anyway.

A pair of senior citizens and warriors, Dwight D. Eisenhower and Omar Bradley discussed the conflict in Vietnam with Harry Reasoner for an all too short 30 minutes on CBS Tuesday night.

By JEAN CRIST
“Sue, would you dry the dishes and put them away for me?” “It’s 6:30 p. m. now and I will have to hurry or I will be late for class.” There is just time enough for me to put on my lipstick, run a comb through my hair, grab my books, and take off. This has been the order of the day since August and if all goes as planned it will continue until the middle of January.

Imagine, me prime candidate for “Mrs. Middle-Aged Spread of the Year”, going to school again. But it’s a fact, and in our school room in the cafeteria of Berger Hospital I will join eleven other nurses who have graduated from accredited schools of nursing anywhere from ten to thirty two years ago.

After graduation a nurse is required to take the state board examination for nursing and if this is passed, she will receive the title of registered nurse. For the most part, the responsibilities of raising a family have kept these women inactive professionally, but most would tell you that they found their training invaluable in caring for family and friends who were ill. They have now committed themselves to paying a $30 course fee, and approximately 6 months of 3 hour classes on Monday and Thursday evenings. These consist of lectures, films, and discussions relating to the various phases of nursing. In addition to this, many hours will be spent at home reading the suggested reference materials and studying the information given in class. The clinical experience, or actual patient care, consists of a minimum of four hours per week spent in the hospital observing and giving patient care.

Although these are competent and experienced nurses, any patient care is supervised by a qualified instructor, so that any new procedures unfamiliar to the “student nurse” will be thoroughly explained and properly carried out. This is primarily a re-learning situation for the nurses involved, but as an advantageous side effect, it provides the patients of the hospital with 56 hours per week of personalized nursing care at no cost to them or to the hospital.

The nurses taking the course are Geneva Archer, Barbara Henn, Rita Smith, Louise Hinton, Sara Thomas, Mary Clifton, Margaret Dresbach, Mariel Mace, Eileen Foster, A. J. Fraas, Irma Fenstermaker, and Jean Crist. The guiding light and inspiration of this refresher course is Miss Margaret Goode, director of nursing at Berger Hospital. She has received invaluable assistance from Miss Martha Hyer who is associated with the Capital School of Nursing in Columbus. Many local physicians and several persons who are specialists in their field, have volunteered their time and talent thus far, and will continue to do so in the future. The congenial attitude of all the personnel at the hospital and their willingness to cooperate has contributed a great deal to its apparent success.

At about the mid-way point of our refresher course, some of the topics we have studied include the following: Clinical Observation & Perception of Patient Needs, Trends in Pharmacology, Emergency Room Nursing, Obstetrics, Pediatrics, and a rather extensive amount of films and lectures regarding Oxygen Therapy and Intravenous Therapy.

Senate OKs Meat Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has pushed through a bill that would make some 15,000 U.S. meat plants adhere to federal purity standards and even a major opponent concedes the measure seems assured of House acceptance.

Chairman W. R. Poage of the House Agriculture Committee said Tuesday following the Senate's 89-2 passage of the meat inspection bill:

“This House is going to make a showing that they're for clean meat which in their opinion means federally inspected meat.”

Poage said he remains opposed to the measure, which goes far beyond a House version approved earlier. But another Texan who is the main sponsor of the House bill said he would push for acceptance of the Senate measure.

Democratic Rep. Graham Purcell said he hoped a quick House okay would avoid publicity on current meat inspection practices which he said has hurt cattle prices.

The differences between the two bills must be ironed out in a Senate-House conference committee.

Clothing Center Is in Need Of Donations

Several years ago a program was started in Pickaway County to establish a “Used Clothing Center”. The purpose of the center is to collect and distribute used clothing to those who are greatly in need especially during the cold winter months.

The center is operated by the Council of Church Women who collect, sort and dispense the clothing which has been given to them.

At the present time the supply of clothing is extremely low. Donations of any wearing apparel are needed. If anyone has any used clothing on hand it may be taken to a Church or the the Juvenile Court in the Court House. Pick up service is available by calling the Juvenile Court, 474-6350.

OSU Said Low In Student Funds

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ohio State had $400 less to spend per student last year than the average Big Ten university and less than half as much as one of them, Novice G. Fawcett, OSU president, told Cleveland area alumni of the school Tuesday night.

But in federal support, largely for research, Ohio State was 10th in the nation in 1966 and third in the Big Ten. If Ohio State is to be one of the Nation's 10 best universities, Fawcett said, it must obtain more money from the state, the federal government and from private sources.

Post Office Urges Early Mail Order

Families buying Christmas gifts through the mail were urged by Postmaster Charles Walters to order early to be assured delivery before Dec. 25.

“Too many families are disappointed on Christmas Eve because they failed to allow for the record volume of mail moving through post offices during the holiday season,” Postmaster Walters said today.

On surface mail shipments from distant cities the Post Office Department suggests that orders be placed before the end of November. For packages from nearby cities and those sent by air parcel post, families are urged to place their orders by Dec. 11.

The early ordering of Christmas gifts will also allow for the delays which are often encountered in merchants' shipping rooms during the busy holiday season and possible shortages of goods as the selling season draws to a close.

Walters said that “the great majority of the mail-order companies — proud of their reputations — stop advertising when they cannot assure customers Christmas delivery. However, in some instances fly-by-night firms continue to promote mail-order sales when they can no longer be certain the goods will arrive before Dec. 25.

In some cases “last minute” shoppers try to avoid receiving late gifts by writing in their orders: “return check and cancel if you cannot guarantee Christmas delivery”. Postal officials have found, however, that it is often difficult for mail-order clerks, swamped with holiday orders, to decide if a particular shipment is likely to arrive be-

Vance Flies to Cyprus; Seek Turk - Greek Pact

NICOSIA (AP) — U.S. presidential envoy Cyrus Vance paid his first visit to Cyprus today for talks with Greek Cypriot leaders on their opposition to virtual war or peace conditions set by Turkey for the protection of the island's Turkish minority.

Vance flew to Nicosia from Athens after a long day and night of consultations with the Greek government. Foreign Minister Panayiotis Pipinelis described the situation as “delicate and dangerous” but said he thought war with Turkey was “less of a possibility now.”

Vance and President Makarios, the leader of the Greek Cypriot community, met for an hour at the presidential palace while Turkish Air Force jets screamed overhead. It was their second day over Nicosia and their 12th successive day over Cyprus.

The Greek government has been reported willing to withdraw the 8,000-12,000 Greek soldiers who were infiltrated into Cyprus in violation of the 1960 Zurich agreements which gave the island its independence from Britain. These provide for garrisons of 950 Greek troops and 650 Turkish troops in Cyprus.

Makarios is opposed to withdrawal of Greek troops unless all Turkish troops also withdraw and his government is given firm international guarantees against foreign intervention. But the Turkish government refuses to abandon the Turkish Cypriot minority, contending for the holiday. “There is no substitute,” Walters said, “for promptly ordering Christmas gifts sent through the mails”.

that the Turkish garrison is the only guarantee of protection for it against the Greek Cypriot majority.

It was generally believed in Cyprus that Makarios would have to go along with anything Greece agreed to.

The newest crisis on the island developed Nov. 15 when 27 Turkish Cypriots and two Greek Cypriots were killed a Greek Cypriot attack on two villages. While Vance came to Cyprus, a second peacemaker, Secretary General Manlio Brosio of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, flew back to Ankara after a meeting with the Greek foreign minister in Athens. Both Greece and Turkey are NATO members.

Vance and Brosio apparently had been able to work out a general peace package, and the stumbling blocks delaying full agreement were believed to be largely matters of detail.
